

Contents

List of contributors	viii
Acknowledgement	x

PART I THEORETICAL INTRODUCTION

1	Introduction: reaching sustainable diversity in international arbitration	2
	Giorgio Fabio Colombo, Shahla F. Ali, Filip Balcerzak, Joshua Karton
2	Diversity in four dimensions	6
	Joshua Karton
3	Fluidity of culture: convergence and informed divergence in cross-border arbitration	21
	Shahla F. Ali

PART II DIVERSITY IN THE ARBITRAL COMMUNITY

4	Diversity in investment arbitration: balancing individual and community legitimacy	33
	Fernando Dias Simões
5	Gender, race, or both? The need for greater consideration of intersectionality in international arbitration	48
	Kabir A.N. Duggal and Rekha Rangachari
6	Diversifying the dominant demographics in international arbitration – the how, the why and the (maybe) solution	66
	D’Andrea A. Johnson and Theominique D. Nottage
7	Sustainable diversity in international arbitration: the case of ad hoc, maritime, and commodities trade arbitration	83
	Eva Litina

8	Developing diversity within diversity discourse: remembering non-lawyers in arbitration Luke Nottage, Nobumichi Teramura and James Tanna	101
9	CETA – where are the women? Diffusing the thought-terminating clichés that impeded diversity Katherine Simpson and Anthony Marcum	119
10	Boosting diversity in international arbitration: lessons from and for China? Monika Prusinowska	135
11	Judicial capacity-building and sustainable diversity under the Model Law Anselmo Reyes	150
PART III DIVERSITY IN CULTURES AND STYLES OF ARBITRATION
12	Arbitration and the diversity of constitutional cultures Victor Ferreres Comella	168
13	Diversity of med-arb in international arbitration Weixia Gu	182
14	I say discovery, you say disclosure. Evidence in international arbitration Alyssa S. King	198
15	Linguistic diversity in international investment arbitration Ksenia Polonskaya	213
16	Challenging the arbitrariness perception of ex aequo et bono to (re-)discover procedural diversity Nobumichi Teramura	229
PART IV “SUSTAINABLE” ARBITRATION – ENVIRONMENTAL ISSUES
17	The role of international arbitration in resolving climate change related disputes: selected prospects and issues Konrad J. Czech and Bartosz Solocho	243

18	Transparency in international arbitration as a catalyst to combat climate change: is it time to embrace democratised access to data in climate change related disputes? Caroline Deves and Piotr Wilinski	258
19	Arbitration and climate change: sustainable and diverse policy and practice Lucy Greenwood	276
	Index	289