

Contents

Preface	xi
Introduction How Real Is Politics? The Mediation of Political Realities	1
How Real Is Real?	2
Welcome to Fantasyland: It's Not All Mickey Mouse!	5
Soap Opera Politics: The Logic of Mediated, Fantastic Reality	14
Mediating the Realities of Mediated Politics	17
Notes	18
 PART I Mass-Mediated Politics	 21
Chapter 1 What's Happening? TV News Lights the Way	23
TV News In Fantasyland	25
Fantasies of Illumination in TV News	29
Conclusion: Acquaintance with, Not Knowledge about	48
Notes	50
 Chapter 2 A Man for All Seasons: The Mediated Contests of Presidential Campaigning	 52
Presidential Campaign Contests as Ritual Dramas	53
The Man Who . . . : Hype and Hope in Presidential Contests	65
This Is as Real as It Gets	68
Notes	70
	vii

Chapter 3	The Re-Presentation of History in Popular Culture	72
	Re-Presentation by Romantic Representation	73
	Docudrama Fantasies: What Is, Was, or Might Have Been	75
	Long Past? No, Your Past!	88
	Notes	88
Chapter 4	The Fortunes and Misfortunes of Fame: Women and Political Celebrity in Popular Periodicals	90
	The Birth of Celebrity	91
	Political Celebrity: From 15-Minute Fame to "Where Are They Now?"	94
	Fantasies of Court Life	101
	Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star, How I Wonder Who You Are	103
	Notes	104
Chapter 5	The Vision from Sunset Boulevard: The Political Fantasies of Hollywood	106
	Dreams for Sale	106
	Movies as Rituals of Power	110
	The Populist Fantasy in the Films of the 1930s	112
	Hollywood Goes to, and Returns from, World War II:
	The Commitment Fantasy	115
	The Alien Fantasy in the 1950s	118
	Change and Hope in the 1960s	120
	Doubt and Drift in the 1970s	123
	Renewal and Reflection in the 1980s	124
	Looking Forward	126
	Notes	127
Chapter 6	Fantasies of the Arena: Popular Sports and Politics	129
	The Sports Vision of the American Dream	131
	Sports and Mediated Heroic Fantasies	134
	Sports: School for Political Virtue or Scandal?	137
	Sports as a Dramatic Setting of Politics	141
	The Power and the Glory of Popular Sports	144
	Notes	145
PART II	Group-Mediated Politics	147
Chapter 7	Elite Political Fantasies: Groupthink Sources of Masstink	149

Wholes Greater than the Sum of Their Parts	151
From the Horse's Mouth: Fantastic Decision-Making	154
Group Wrestling: Fantasy-Building through Informed Discussion	157
Whose Fantasies, Whose Realities?	164
Notes	165
Chapter 8 Inside-Dopesters: The Mediated Realities of Political Celebrities	166
Off to See the Wizards!	168
Citizens and Seers Examining the Fantasies of Inside Dope	182
Notes	183
Chapter 9 The Fantasies of Religious Movements: Political Perspectives of Contemporary Evangelicals	185
The Mass-Mediated World of the Electronic Church	187
The Rhetorical Vision of the Christian Right	194
The Quest for Redemption	200
Notes	201
Chapter 10 Devils and Demons: The Group Mediation of Conspiracy	203
The Demonic Melodrama in the Popular Mind	205
They're Here: Conspiracies and the American Political Tradition	209
Old Wine, New Bottles: Contemporary Responses to Conspiracies	215
Bad Melodrama as Entertaining Theater	219
Notes	221
Conclusion The Age of Fantasy: Fictions, Facts, and Pipedreams	223
Designed Political Experience in the Age of Fantasy	224
Mediated Political Pluralities, Not Realities	228
Notes	232
Author Index	233
Subject Index	238