Table of Contents

Acknowledgements ix

1. Introduction 1

The problem 1
The approach 4
Overview of study 10

Part One — Paradigms: The Metaphysical Level

2. Foundations of Sociolinguistic Theory 17

The need for "metaworries" 17
Markova's frameworks 19
The formalist and functionalist linguistic paradigms 21
Sociolinguistic metatheory 25
Conclusion 27

Part Two — Paradigms: Disciplinary Matrix Level
Sociolinguistic Disciplinary Matrixes

3. Dell Hymes and the Ethnography of Communication—Sociolinguistic Relativism 31

Sociolinguistics according to Dell Hymes 31
Sociolinguistic theory and linguistic theory 40
Ethnography of communication as linguistic theory 56
Conclusion 65

4. William Labov and Sociolinguistic Realism 69

Sociolinguistics according to William Labov 69
Sociolinguistic theory and linguistic theory 73
Labovian sociolinguistics as linguistic theory 84
Conclusion 105

5. John Gumperz and Interactional Sociolinguistics—Intentionality, Interpretation and Social Meaning 111

Sociolinguistics according to John Gumperz 111
Sociolinguistic theory and linguistic theory 115
Interactional sociolinguistics as linguistic theory 117
Conclusion 139

Part Three — Paradigms: The Construct Level

6. Sociolinguistics and Utterance 143

Introduction 143
Sociolinguistics and utterance 143
Utterance and linguistic theory 155
Utterance and linguistics of particularity 166
Linguistics of particularity 170

7. Conclusion 177

Sociolinguistic disciplinary matrixes: A comparison 177
Sociolinguistics revisited 179

References 185

Index 201