

Contents

List of Illustrations	xi
Acknowledgments	xiii

Part One: Work

Chapter 1	The "Baining Problem"	3
	Baining Monotony: Entropy or Structure?	4
	Work, Sociality, Nature, and Value	7
	Activity as Descriptive and Theoretical Unit	9

Chapter 2	The Ethnographic Setting	13
	Geography and Settlement Patterns	16
	Kinship and Adoption	20
	The Subsistence Economy	22
	Intergroup Relations	27
	Raiding	28
	Food Exchanges and Feasts	29
	Dances	30
	Mission Influences	31

Chapter 3	History	33
	The Mission	34
	Colonization in Earnest	37
	World War II	40
	Postwar Experiences	42
	Change and Continuity	49

Chapter 4	Kinship, Adoption, and the Production of Society	52
	The Nuclear Family: A Locus of Shame	53
	Beyond the Nuclear Family: The Kinship System	55
	Formation of the Nuclear Family	56
	Marriage: The First Transformation	57

	Work: The Transformation of the Natural into the Social	59
	Residence	61
	The Birth of Children: The Transmission of Natural Bonds	61
	Adoption: Producing the Social Family	63
	Food: The Medium of Transformation	69
	Nature Transformed into Culture: The Process Generalized	69
	Coordination of Transformations	71
	Reciprocity: The Process as a Cycle	72
	Transformations across Generations	75
	The Cycle Closes: Transformation of Social into Natural	78
	Adoption as a Mediator in Relations with Outsiders	79
	The Work of Kinship	81
Chapter 5	The Life Cycle and Socialization	83
	Physical Developments during the Life Cycle	85
	The Life Cycle	88
	Cold and Heat	104
	Socialization and the Life Cycle	110
Chapter 6	Sentiments and Motivation in the Social Person	113
	The Baining Concept of the Person	113
	The Role of Sentiments in Defining the Person	116
	The Person in Social Action: The Person vs. the Individual	122
	Personal Experiences and Individuality	125
	Experiences Outside the Social Order	126
Chapter 7	Death and Social Reproduction	136
	Death	136
	Mortuary Sequence	139
	The First Feast	140
	Divination	141
	Food Taboos and Their Termination	143
	The Death Feast	147
	Death Ritual in Its Social Context	153
	The Ritual Process	159
	Aios	160

Part Two: Play

Chapter 8	Baining Dances	165
	Continuity and Variation	165
	Play	168
	Work and Play	170
	Work	171
	From Work to Play	176
Chapter 9	Ta Takmut Banas: The Asarai Dance	180
	Work in the Bush	180
	Preparations in the Village	198
	Conjunction of Bush and Place	203
	Ritual Process	205
	Work Phase	205
	The Day of the Dance	209
Chapter 10	Atut	238
	Atut	239
	Preparations	240
	Avriski	240
	Anguangi	242
	Alaspraka	242
	Work in the Bush	244
	Preparations in the Place	247
	The Dance	248
	Analysis	254
	Songs and Singing	259
Chapter 11	Anarchy as Structured Antistructure	264
	Formulating the Structures of Baining Life	265
	Work as Cosmology: Nature into Culture and Back Again	268
	Values	274
	The Baining as Materialist Anarchists	274
	Mask as Fetish	275
	"Habitus," Agency, Consciousness, Culture	277
	They Make Themselves	282
	Social Change	283
	The Baining as Melanesians	284

Appendix	287
Glossary	293
Bibliography	297
Index	303