

Contents

Acknowledgments	xi
Contributors	xiii
Preface	xix

PART I LOOKING BACK

CHAPTER 1	The Discovery of the Human Newborn: A Brief History	3
	J. Kevin Nugent

PART II CONTEMPORARY RESEARCH AND PRACTICE: INTERNATIONAL PERSPECTIVES

Research on Newborn Behavior and Development

CHAPTER 2	Predicting Development for Extremely Low Birthweight Infants: Sweden	21
	Karin Stjernqvist
CHAPTER 3	The Effects of Newborn Massage: United States	34
	Tiffany Field
CHAPTER 4	Perinatal Factors Influencing Development: Spain	41
	Carme Costas-Moragas
CHAPTER 5	Supporting Parents of At-Risk Infants: Japan	51
	Shohei Ohgi and Tomitaro Akiyama
CHAPTER 6	The Cultural Context of the Mother-Infant Relationship: Korea	60
	Yeonghee Shin and Byunghi Park
CHAPTER 7	Moments of Meeting: Pivotal Moments in Mother, Infant, Father Bonding: Switzerland	70
	Nadia Bruschweiler-Stern
CHAPTER 8	The Developmental Niche of the Newborn in Rural Kenya	85
	Charles M. Super and Sara Harkness

Early Intervention with Infants and Families

CHAPTER 9	Early Intervention and Fatherhood: Denmark Hanne Munck	101
CHAPTER 10	A Model for Working in Community Health Settings: United Kingdom Joanna Hawthorne and Betty Hutchon	112
CHAPTER 11	Using the Newborn Behavioral Observations (NBO) System with At-Risk Infants and Families: United States Yvette Blanchard	120
CHAPTER 12	Early Intervention in an Australian Setting Beulah Warren	129
CHAPTER 13	Reaching Out to Rural Communities: A Community Health Model: Thailand Nittaya Jirathiyut Kotchabhakdi and Naiphinich Kotchabhakdi	140
CHAPTER 14	Maternal-Child and Family Nursing and Preventive Intervention: United States Kristie Brandt	146

New Models in Training Health-Care Professionals

CHAPTER 15	The Touchpoints Approach: United States Ann Coleman Stadtler and John Hornstein	159
CHAPTER 16	The Newborn as a Touchpoint: Training Pediatricians in Portugal João Gomes-Pedro	171
CHAPTER 17	Humanizing the Infant: France Drina Candilis-Huisman and Marie Fabre-Grenet	183
CHAPTER 18	The NBAS in a North Carolina Clinical Setting: Hospital and Home: United States James M. Helm and Marie A. Reilly	196
CHAPTER 19	Relationship-Based Practice in the Newborn Nursery: Thoughts for the Pediatric Professional: United States Constance Helen Keefer, Lise Carolyn Johnson, and Susan Minear	203
CHAPTER 20	Preparing Professionals to Work with Newborns: The Brazelton Institute Experience: United States Jean Gardner Cole, Cecilia F. Matson, and Thembi Ranuga	216

CHAPTER 21	Integrating Developmental Principles into the Daily Work of Health Professionals: Italy Gherardo Rapisardi, Adrienne Davidson, Roberto Paludetto, and Giuseppina Mansi	224
------------	---	-----

PART III LOOKING TOWARD THE FUTURE

CHAPTER 22	A View from the Lab Rachel Keen	237
CHAPTER 23	Parent-Infant Bonding and Doula Support John H. Kennell	243
CHAPTER 24	The Brazelton Baby: The Other Side of the Coin Ed Tronick	254
CHAPTER 25	Evolving Family Dynamics and Neonatal Assessment Bonnie J. Petrauskas	264
CHAPTER 26	Future Dialogue between the Neurosciences and the Behavioral Observation of Infants Daniel N. Stern and Nadia Bruschweiler-Stern	273
CHAPTER 27	The Role of the Neonatal Behavioral Assessment Scale: Personal Reflections T. Berry Brazelton	278
	Author Index	287
	Subject Index	293