

Contents

Acknowledgements — V

List of Figures — IX

List of Tables — XI

Adrian J. Bailey and Ricardo K. S. Mak

Chapter 1

China and the global era: From globalisation to everyday life — 1

Karen Zhi-hua Xu

Chapter 2

Origin effects, spatial dynamics, and redistribution of foreign direct investment in Guangdong, China — 21

Shuang Wu and Adrian J. Bailey

Chapter 3

Broken wing: Affective geographies of China's state-owned enterprise reform — 45

Kwok-kin Fung, Suet-lin Shirley Hung, and Gary Craig

Chapter 4

Neoliberalisation and community development: Comparing community development services in Hong Kong and Beijing — 65

Patrick W. C. Lau, Jing Jing Wang, and Geng Wang

Chapter 5

A review of the effective features of Facebook in social media-based interventions to increase adolescents' physical activity — 89

Suet-lin Shirley Hung, Kwok-kin Fung, Sai-kin Sammy Ho, and Juxiong Feng

Chapter 6

Gender and social capital: The case of a deprived urban community in Hong Kong — 103

Veronika Stepkova

Chapter 7

Framing migrant domestic workers inside transnational businesses:
A case study of Bangladeshi women travelling to Hong Kong, and their Hong Kong-based employment agencies — 135

Cindy Yik-yi Chu

Chapter 8

Aurora College for Women in Shanghai, 1937–1951 — 155

Matthew Chew

Chapter 9

The local mutation of professional academic organisations and its fragmentising effect under academic globalisation: Evidence from modern China and Japan — 173

Ricardo K. S. Mak

Chapter 10

German Romantic ideals and the revival of traditional Chinese culture in early twentieth century China — 191

Him Chung

Chapter 11

Urban resilience in China: Government action and community response — 207

Index — 225