

Taarab Music in Zanzibar in the Twentieth Century

A Story of 'Old is Gold' and Flying Spirits

JANET TOPP FARGION

The British Library, UK

ASHGATE

Contents

List of Figures and Tables	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Technical Note	xi

PART I: INTRODUCTIONS

1	Approaches and People	3
2	Meanings and Boundaries	17

PART II: ENTANGLED HISTORIES AND PARALLEL STRANDS

3	Orchestral Taarab : 'Old is Gold'	37
	Section 1: Historical Narratives	37
	Section 2: Stylistic Influences	70
4	Kidumbak	93
5	Women's Taarab	113

PART III: FLYING SPIRITS: WHAT WOMEN REALLY REALLY WANT

6	Women as Drivers of Change	143
---	----------------------------	-----

PART IV: CONCLUSIONS

7	The Professionalisation of the Taarab Music Complex	175
8	Women at the Centre of a Music Complex	201

List of Consultants	207
Bibliography	211
Index	229