

Contents

List of Tables and Figures	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction. The Europeanization of Social Movements and Immigration and Asylum Policies	1
Europeanization 'from below' and 'from the borders'	1
The Europeanization of immigration and asylum policies and its effects on social movements	5
Social movements and the European Union: an institutionalization of protest?	12
Comparing the Europeanization of the French and German pro-asylum movements	17
Methods and sources	21
The structure of the book	28
CHAPTER 1 The Evolution of French and German Pro-asylum Movements since the Beginning of the 1990s	33
The French case: a movement made up of dense inter-associative coalitions and diversified allies	35
The German case: a fragmented and isolated movement	47
Conclusions	56
CHAPTER 2 The Components of the French and German Pro-asylum Movements in Comparative Perspective	64
The components of the pro-asylum movement and the 'solidarity movement family': a historical overview	66
Mobilizing 'for the relief of', 'on behalf of', 'together with', or 'as' asylum-seekers and refugees	70
Conclusions. A cleavage between humanitarian and politicized SMOs	110

CHAPTER 3 The Europeanization of the Pro-asylum Movements: Evidence from the Networks, Frames and Collective Actions	116
The construction of European networks	118
The Europeanization of frames	126
The construction of European collective actions	134
Conclusions	138
CHAPTER 4 The Different Modes of Europeanization of the Pro-asylum Movements	142
The Europeanization of humanitarian associations: a process of externalization	146
The Europeanization of politicized associations: from domestication to the construction of transnational and multilevel movements	155
Conclusions	167
CHAPTER 5 The Europeanization of Social Movements: A Process of Inclusion into, and Exclusion from, a Particular Field	171
The organizations active at the EU level since the beginning of the 1990s: a closed European advocacy coalition	175
Why and how humanitarian organizations were included into this field	191
Why politicized organizations remain excluded from this field	196
Towards the construction of alternative coalitions: how politicized associations become European	199
Conclusions	222
Conclusion. The Europeanization of Social Movements and the Emergence of a European Public Sphere	228
Pro-asylum movements and the European Union: three conclusions	229
The 'statization' of power relations, the emergence of a European public sphere and the construction of a European identity?	233
List of Interviews	239
References	241
Index	251