

Contents

|                              |    |
|------------------------------|----|
| Notes on contributors | ix |
| Acknowledgments       | xv |

|   |          |
|---|----------|
| Introduction: beyond gender – toward a decolonized queer feminist future | 1 |
| GRETA OLSON AND MIRJAM HORN-SCHOTT  |          |

PART I

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| Undoing gender studies: theoretical positionings | 25 |
|---|-----------|

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| 1 The rise and fall (and rise) of Mars and Venus in language and gender research | 27 |
| JENNIFER COATES   |           |

|  |           |
|--|-----------|
| 2 Masculinity studies: contemporary approaches and alternative perspectives | 52 |
| STEFAN HORLACHER   |           |

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| 3 Where are we going, where have we been, where do we return to, repeatedly? The seriality of feminist critique and gender studies | 79 |
| SABINE SIELKE   |           |

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| 4 “Slavery to an assembly line is not a liberation from slavery to the kitchen sink”: assessing social reproduction theory’s challenge to liberal–feminist and classical–Marxist paradigms | 100 |
| DANIEL HARTLEY  |            |

|                    |  |            |
|--------------------|--|------------|
| 5           | Modes of being vs. categories: queering the tools of intersectionality  | 117 |
|                    | GABRIELE DIETZE, ELAHE HASCHEMI YEKANI, AND BEATRICE MICHAELIS   |            |
| PART II |  |            |
|                    | Forms of practice: doing the ‘after’ of gender studies  | 137 |
| 6           | Fictions of sexual amnesia  | 139 |
|                    | INA SCHABERT   |            |
| 7           | Loving feminism: negotiating differences in the classroom   | 156 |
|                    | GRETA OLSON  |            |
| 8           | Unseemly desire: disciplining and othering the sexuality of women in later life                                   | 179 |
|                    | KATHARINA ZILLES   |            |
| 9           | The politics of neoliberal postfeminist bridal culture  | 197 |
|                    | FRANKA HEISE   |            |
| 10          | Small-screen tweenage angst: feminist icons and (anti-) heroines in twenty-first century American popular culture | 217 |
|                    | MIRJAM HORN-SCHOTT   |            |
| 11          | The “yes” which is not one: consent, the law, and the limits of false consciousness feminism                      | 235 |
|                    | JORDANA GREENBLATT   |            |
| 12          | Autonomous Sri Lankan women’s organizations and their engagements with LBT advocacy                               | 257 |
|                    | SHERMAL WIJEWARDENE  |            |
| 13          | “It’s a space shuttle!” Opening up queer* spaces through the performing arts                                      | 277 |
|                    | KATHRIN EBMEIER AND CHRISTOPH BOVERMANN  |            |
|                    | Index   | 291 |