

CONTENTS

Foreword / Darra Goldstein ix

Acknowledgments xix

Introduction: Food, Gender, and the Everyday through the Looking Glass of Socialist Experience /
Anastasia Lakhtikova and Angela Brintlinger 1

I Women in the Soviet Kitchen: Cooking Paradoxes in Family and Society

1 Love, Marry, Cook: Gendering the Home Kitchen in Late Soviet Russia / Adrienne K. Jacobs 33

2 "I Hate Cooking!": Emancipation and Patriarchy in Late Soviet Film / Irina Glushchenko, translated by Anastasia Lakhtikova and Angela Brintlinger 59

3 Professional Women Cooking: Soviet Manuscript
Cookbooks, Social Networks, and Identity Building /
Anastasia Lakhtikova 80

II Producers, Providers, and Consumers: Resistance and Compliance, Soviet-Style

4 Cake, Cabbage, and the Morality of Consumption in Iurii Trifonov's House on the Embankment /
Benjamin Sutcliffe 113

5 Sated People: Gendered Modes of Acquiring and Consuming Prestigious Soviet Foods / Olena Stiazhkina, translated by Anastasia Lakhtikova and Angela Brintlinger 132

- 6 Dacha Labors: Preserving Everyday Soviet Life /
Melissa L. Caldwell 165
- 7 Vodka en Plein Air: Authoritative Discourse, Alcohol, and Gendered Spaces in Gray Mouse by Vil Lipatov /
Lidia Levkovitch 193
- III Soviet Signifiers: The Semiotics of Everyday Scarcity and Ritual Uses of Food
- 8 Cold Veal and a Stale Bread Roll: Zofia Wędrawska's
Taste for Scarcity / Ksenia Gusarova 223
- 9 "Our Only Hope Was in These Plants": Irina Ratushinskaya and the Manipulation of Foodways in a Late Soviet Labor Camp /
Ona Renner-Fahey 247
- 10 Shchi da kasha, but Mostly Shchi: Cabbage as Gendered and Genre'd in the Late Soviet Period / Angela Brintlinger 271
- 11 Still Life with Leftovers: Nonna Slepakova's Poetics of Time /
Amelia Glaser 297
- Afterword: Cultures of Food in the Era of Developed Socialism /
Diane P. Koenker 320

Bibliography 335

Index 359