

Contents

Foreword	x
1 Methodological Framework	1
1.1 Critical Discourse Analysis and the Discourse Historical Approach	1
1.2 Historical Discourse Semantics (HDS)	6
1.3 Critical Metaphor Analysis	10
1.4 Presupposition and metacommunication	14
1.5 Corpus Linguistics and Computer-Assisted Discourse Analysis	16
2 Self-identity, Otherness and Nationalism	20
2.1 Identity	20
2.2 Self-identity and other-identity	24
2.3 Myths, folk-tales and the creation of identity	27
2.4 National identity and nationalism	31
2.5 German nationalism, the Volk and the Other	36
2.5.1 Fichte, Jahn, and the German nation	37
2.5.2 Nationalism after the formation of the Second Reich	43
3 Racism in Discourse	50
3.1 What is race?	50
3.2 Houston Stewart Chamberlain's view of race	51
3.3 What is racism?	59
3.4 Racist discourse	61
3.5 Anti-Slavic discourse	62
3.5.1 Heinrich Claß	64
3.5.2 The treatment of Slavs in fiction	68
3.6 Images of gypsies and anti-Ziganism	73
3.7 Final thoughts	79
4 Anti-Semitism in Discourse	81
4.1 What is anti-Semitism?	81
4.2 Discourse about Jews 1871–1879	84
4.2.1 Wilhelm Marr	85
4.2.2 Stoecker, Mommsen and Treitschke	91

4.3	Anti-Semitic discourse 1880–1899	95
4.3.1	Eugen Dühring	95
4.3.2	Böckel and Fritsch	98
4.4	Anti-Semitic discourse 1899–1914	99
4.4.1	Houston Stewart Chamberlain	99
4.4.1.1	Analysis of Chapters 5 and 6 of the Grundlagen	101
4.4.1.2	DHA analysis of the Grundlagen	110
4.4.1.3	Arische Weltanschauung	115
4.4.2	Heinrich Claß's anti-Semitism as a precursor to Chamberlain's war-time essays	116
4.5	Chamberlain's war-time anti-Semitism	118
4.6	Anti-Semitism in fictional literature	123
4.7	Final thoughts	129
5	Colonialism in Discourse	130
5.1	What is colonialism?	130
5.2	The Self and the Other in colonialist discourse	132
5.3	The German colonies 1884–1919	134
5.4	Colonial racism	137
5.5	Analysis of colonialist writing	138
5.5.1	Carl Peters	138
5.5.2	Paul Rohrbach's 'German Idea'	142
5.6	Images of the Self and the Other in colonial fiction	151
5.7	The journalistic portrayal of German culture in the colonies	161
5.8	Final thoughts	167
6	Discourse in War-Time	169
6.1	The 'Bismarck effect'	170
6.2	Paul Rohrbach's Zum Weltvolk hindurch!	174
6.3	Houston Stewart Chamberlain's Kriegsaufsätze	181
6.3.1	Textual analysis of the Kriegsaufsätze	182
6.4	Computer-assisted analysis of Rohrbach's and Chamberlain's war essays	189
6.4.1	The use of metaphors in the war essays	193
6.5	War poetry	194
6.6	War-time films	199
6.7	Final thoughts	201

7 Conclusion	202
Notes to Chapters	205
Bibliography	209