
CONTENTS

List of Figures and Tables

Chapter 1 Introduction

Part One Risk Perceptions, Public Attitudes and the Impact of Values

Chapter 2 The Concept of Risk

Chapter 3 Risk Perceptions and The Impact of Locality

Chapter 4 Risk Perceptions and The Impact of Values

Part Two Risk and Value Change in Contemporary Britain

Chapter 5 Values in Contemporary Britain

Chapter 6 Risk in Contemporary Britain

Chapter 7 Conclusion: Risk Awareness versus Risk Aversion

Annex 1 Technical Details of the Surveys.

Annex 2 The Human Valuation System

Bibliography

LIST OF FIGURES AND TABLES

- Figure 1 The Risk Matrix
- Figure 2 The Human Valuation System Model.
- Table 3.1 Comparative favourability (%) towards the nuclear, oil and chemical industries.
- Table 3.2 Favourability (%) towards the nuclear and chemical industries in West Cumbria.
- Table 3.3 Favourability towards the nuclear industry in Allerdale and Copeland compared with the national level.
- Table 3.4 Beliefs about the nuclear industry among residents of Copeland Borough.
- Table 3.5 Issues perceived by non-nuclear workers to be confronting Copeland Borough.
- Table 3.6 Residents of Copeland Borough, which of the following geographical groups do you feel closest to?
- Table 3.7 Correlation of economic beliefs, risk perceptions and locality-related beliefs with respondents' overall attitude towards the nuclear industry.
- Table 4.1 Mean Levels of concern about riskiness of aspects of the comparator industries.
- Table 4.2 Spearman correlation of the level of concern about risk, with agreement that nuclear power should be used to satisfy our electricity needs.
- Table 5.1 Extent of Agreement with statement "People like me have no say in what the government does."
-

Table 5.2	Would you agree that politicians are largely in political life for their own advantage?
Table 5.3	How much influence would you say big business has on the lives of people in Britain these days?
Table 5.4	Would you say that big business has too much influence, about the right amount, or too little influence in Britain today?
Table 5.5	Would you say that big business mainly benefits the owners?
Table 5.6	Percentage of respondents in UK advising marriage without living together first (by birth cohorts)
Table 5.7	Satisfaction with performance of British government.
Table 5.8	Extent to which respondent would trust a British government of any party.
Table 5.9	Respondents asked: "People like me have no say in government?"
Table 5.10	Respondents asked: "Would you trust the government to put the interests of the nation above those of the governing party?"
Table 5.11	Respondents asked: "Are you personally concerned about things that may happen to the countryside, or does it not concern you particularly?"
Table 5.12	Respondents asked whether they would be prepared to pay more for environmentally friendly products.
Table 6.1	Question: "Personal freedom of choice in all aspects of life is very important to me."
Table 6.2	Question: "Are you close to any particular political party?"
Table 6.3	Identification of Value Orientations, by Group.
Table 6.4	Value Orientation, by Age Groups.

Table 6.5	Value Orientations by Social Class.
Table 6.6	Concern posed by chemical plants.
Table 6.7	Concern posed by chemical waste disposal.
Table 6.8	Concern posed by transport of chemicals.
Table 6.9	Concern posed by nuclear power plants.
Table 6.10	Concern posed by nuclear waste disposal.
Table 6.11	Concern posed by transport of nuclear material.
Table 6.12	Concern posed by oil refineries.
Table 6.13	Concern posed by transport of oil and petroleum.
Table 6.14	Identification of Value Orientations, by Group, Regional Survey.
Table 6.15	Risk Perceptions of Nuclear and Chemical Industries.
Table 6.16	Correlations between level of concern about risks associated with aspects of the nuclear industry and overall favourability towards it.
Table 6.17	Correlations between level of concern about risks associated with aspects of the chemical industry and overall favourability towards it.
Table 6.18	Correlations between level of concern about risks associated with aspects of the oil and petroleum industry and overall favourability towards it.
Table 6.19	Nuclear fuel reprocessing (West Cumbria)
Table 6.20	Nuclear power generation (West Cumbria)
Table 6.21	Nuclear power generation (South-west Scotland)
Table 6.22	Chemical industry (South-west Scotland)
