

Contents

|                                                            |    |
|------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Acknowledgments                                            | ix |
| Introduction                                               |    |
| JAMES E. TEELE                                             | 1  |
| Part I. Recollections                           |    |
| E. Franklin Frazier                                    |    |
| A Memoir                                                   |    |
| JOHN HOPE FRANKLIN                                         | 17 |
| A Focused Memoir                                       |    |
| Howard University and Frazier, 1933–1941                   |    |
| HYLAN A. LEWIS                                             | 21 |
| Frazier's Background and an Overview                   |    |
| ADELAIDE M. CROMWELL                                       | 30 |
| Part II. Graduate Study                         |    |
| E. Franklin Frazier and the Chicago School             |    |
| of Sociology                                               |    |
| A Study in the Sociology of Knowledge                      |    |
| ROBERT L. HALL                                             | 47 |
| Part III. Reflections on the Black Middle Class |    |
| and the Black Community                                    |    |
| Between Scorn and Longing                              |    |
| Frazier's Black Bourgeoisie                         |    |
| ANTHONY M. PLATT                                           | 71 |

Frazier's *Black Bourgeoisie

Talented Tenth or a Parasitic Class?

JOHN H. BRACEY

85

The Middle-Class Black Male

A Barometer of the Well-Being of African American Communities

WORNIE L. REED

102

E. Franklin Frazier's Black Bourgeoisie Reconsidered
Frazier's Analytical Perspective

MARTIN KILSON

118

E. Franklin Frazier's Role in African Studies

MICHAEL R. WINSTON

137

Conclusion and Some Research Questions

JAMES E. TEELE

153

About the Contributors

159

Index

163