

Contents

Foreword by Joseph Graves, Jr.	vii
Preface	xi
1. The Evolution of Scientific Psychology and Public Policy: On Violence and Its Antidotes Richard W. Bloom	1
2. The Social Implications of Evolutionary Psychology: Linking Brain Biochemistry, Toxins, and Violent Crime Roger D. Masters	23
3. Psychopathy as an Adaptation: Implications for Society and Social Policy Stuart Kinner	57
4. Combating Rape: Views of an Evolutionary Psychologist Linda Mealey	83
5. Homicide: An Evolutionary Psychological Perspective and Implications for Public Policy David M. Buss and Joshua D. Duntley	115
6. Fear of Death and Social Behavior: The Anatomy of Human Destructiveness Sheldon Solomon, Jeff Greenberg, and Tom Pyszczynski	129
7. An Evolutionary Perspective on Intercultural Conflict: Basic Mechanisms and Implications for Immigration Policy Harold D. Fishbein and Nancy Dess	157
8. Global Conflict Resolution: An Anthropological Diagnosis of Problems with World Governance Christopher Boehm	203

Contents

9. Violence and Its Antidotes: Promises and Pitfalls of Evolutionarily Aware Policy Development Nancy Dess	239
Index	269
About the Editors and Contributors	285