Contents

A_0	cknowledgements	х
Li	ist of Acronyms	xii
Ai	bstract	xiv
In	atroduction	1
1	Theoretical Frameworks and Methodological Implications: Regional and Minority Language Politics and Policy Making in the EU	9
	Introduction	9
	Language issues in the EC – Official and Working languages, and RMLs	12
	Levels of analysis in European integration theory:	12
	governance and policy networks	15
	Power dependency theory and network and policy change	17
	CDA: discourse in a social theory of language and social change	19
	The politics of generic interpretation – reading legal texts: patterns of meaning-making in legal production and interpretation	23
	Law as a discourse on society: Formal and pragmatic
	institutional constraints and intentionality	26
	Linguistic nationalism, nation building and language ideologies	29
	Diglossia – structural-functional models for the analysis of societal multilingualism: strengths and limitations	33
	Bourdieu's sociology of language and power and linguistic ethnographical approaches	37
	Conclusion	41
2	Foundations of the EU Sociolinguistic Regimes:
	Community Official and/or Working Languages	44
	Introduction	44
	Article 53 and Regulation 1/58: the initial language regime of the EC	47

	Authorship, authority, and intertextuality – the Council	48
	Subject positions – modality, voice and theme: constructing power relations and social reality	49
	The European Court of Justice (ECJ): Preamble and
	Article 7	50
	The Parliament and the Commission: Articles 2, 3 and 6	50
	Categorising languages	51
	Coherence and cohesion in defining working languages and/or community official languages	52
	Working languages	53
	Community and member states' official languages	55
	Summary and recent developments	59
	Languages in Education policy	60
	Authorship and authority	60
	Defining language(s)	62
	From primary legislation to practice: the Archipelago proposal	64
	Summary	67
	From the EYL to the Lifelong Learning Programme
	(2000–2007)	68
	Reconstructing the textual chain: adopting the Lifelong Learning Programme (2007–2013)	71
	Language and cultural policy	74
	Distribution of authority – legislative and discursive powers	74
	Implementing culture: Culture 2000, Culture 2007	75
	Conclusion	76
	Annex I – Regulation 1/58 Determining the Languages
	to be used by the European Economic Community	79
	to be used by the European Economic Community	,,
	Annex II - Article 149 - Education (TEU)	81
	Annex III – Article 151 – Culture (TEU)	82
3	The EU's RML Policy Network: Legal Governing and
	Governance Politics	83
	Introduction	83
	RML policy making between 1983 and 1998: structural foundations and political and budgetary outcomes	84
	The EP's budgetary powers	84
	The EP's discursive powers: Resolutions	86
	-

Contents	vii

RML policy making since 1998 Institutional representation of RML interests within the EP: the Intergroup for RMLs and the 1998 crisis Inter-institutional representation of RML interests: the Intergroup and the Commission Towards a mainstream RML policy in the EP? Looking at the latest Resolutions Semi- and non-institutionalised representation of RML interests in the EU: structures, discourse and RML network change The Mercator information Centres EBLUL: status, roles and structures, discourse RML network change? Conclusion 4 Language, Nation and State in French Linguistic Nationalism: History, Developments and Perspectives Introduction Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs Conclusion 139		Assessment and outcomes	88
EP: the Intergroup for RMLs and the 1998 crisis Inter-institutional representation of RML interests: the Intergroup and the Commission Towards a mainstream RML policy in the EP? Looking at the latest Resolutions Semi- and non-institutionalised representation of RML interests in the EU: structures, discourse and RML network change The Mercator information Centres EBLUL: status, roles and structures, discourse RML network change? Conclusion 4 Language, Nation and State in French Linguistic Nationalism: History, Developments and Perspectives Introduction Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs		RML policy making since 1998	89
Inter-institutional representation of RML interests: the Intergroup and the Commission Towards a mainstream RML policy in the EP? Looking at the latest Resolutions Semi- and non-institutionalised representation of RML interests in the EU: structures, discourse and RML network change The Mercator information Centres EBLUL: status, roles and structures, discourse RML network change? Conclusion 4 Language, Nation and State in French Linguistic Nationalism: History, Developments and Perspectives Introduction Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs		Institutional representation of RML interests within the
Intergroup and the Commission Towards a mainstream RML policy in the EP? Looking at the latest Resolutions Semi- and non-institutionalised representation of RML interests in the EU: structures, discourse and RML network change The Mercator information Centres EBLUL: status, roles and structures, discourse RML network change? Conclusion 4 Language, Nation and State in French Linguistic Nationalism: History, Developments and Perspectives Introduction Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs		EP: the Intergroup for RMLs and the 1998 crisis	91
Towards a mainstream RML policy in the EP? Looking at the latest Resolutions Semi- and non-institutionalised representation of RML interests in the EU: structures, discourse and RML network change The Mercator information Centres EBLUL: status, roles and structures, discourse RML network change? Conclusion 4 Language, Nation and State in French Linguistic Nationalism: History, Developments and Perspectives Introduction Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs		Inter-institutional representation of RML interests: the
the latest Resolutions Semi- and non-institutionalised representation of RML interests in the EU: structures, discourse and RML network change The Mercator information Centres EBLUL: status, roles and structures, discourse RML network change? Conclusion 4 Language, Nation and State in French Linguistic Nationalism: History, Developments and Perspectives Introduction Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs			93
Semi- and non-institutionalised representation of RML interests in the EU: structures, discourse and RML network change 99 The Mercator information Centres 99 EBLUL: status, roles and structures, discourse 99 RML network change? 102 Conclusion 104 4 Language, Nation and State in French Linguistic Nationalism: History, Developments and Perspectives 107 Introduction 107 Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) 109 Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning 114 Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) 118 Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change 123 Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation 126 The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation 128 Ianguage planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) 133 Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135		Towards a mainstream RML policy in the EP? Looking at interests in the EU: structures, discourse and RML network change The Mercator information Centres EBLUL: status, roles and structures, discourse RML network change? Conclusion 4 Language, Nation and State in French Linguistic Nationalism: History, Developments and Perspectives Introduction Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135		the latest Resolutions	97 network change The Mercator information Centres EBLUL: status, roles and structures, discourse RML network change? Conclusion 4 Language, Nation and State in French Linguistic Nationalism: History, Developments and Perspectives Introduction Introducti
The Mercator information Centres EBLUL: status, roles and structures, discourse RML network change? Conclusion 4 Language, Nation and State in French Linguistic Nationalism: History, Developments and Perspectives Introduction Introduc
EBLUL: status, roles and structures, discourse RML network change? Conclusion 4 Language, Nation and State in French Linguistic Nationalism: History, Developments and Perspectives Introduction Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135		•
RML network change? Conclusion 4 Language, Nation and State in French Linguistic Nationalism: History, Developments and Perspectives Introduction Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 100 107 108 109 109 109 109 109 109 109 118 118 118 118 118 118 118 119 119 11
4 Language, Nation and State in French Linguistic Nationalism: History, Developments and Perspectives Introduction Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs		·
4 Language, Nation and State in French Linguistic Nationalism: History, Developments and Perspectives Introduction Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs		•
Introduction 107 Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) 109 Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning 114 Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) 118 Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change 123 Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation 126 The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation 128 Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) 133 Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135		Conclusion	104
Introduction 107 Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) 109 Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning 114 Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) 118 Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change 123 Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation 126 The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation 128 Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) 133 Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135
Introduction 107 Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) 109 Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning 114 Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) 118 Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change 123 Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation 126 The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation 128 Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) 133 Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135	4	Lamburg Notice and Costs to Founds I'm extests
Introduction Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs	4		107
Language reification and totemisation: the politics of the French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs
French language in and out of France before the Revolution (1539–1789) Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs			107
Revolution (1539–1789) Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs
Political nationalism and language: the revolutionary discourses on language, the nation, and language planning Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs			100 discourses on language, the nation, and language planning 114 Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) 118 Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change 123 Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation 126 The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation 128 Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) 133 Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135			109 planning 114 Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) 118 Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change 123 Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation 126 The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation 128 Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) 133 Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135
Language wars? Education policy under the Third Republic (1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 118			114
(1870–1939) Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 138			114
Post-WWII France and French influence in the world: internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change 123 Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation 126 The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation 128 Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) 133 Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135			118
internal and external socio-economic, political and cultural factors of change 123 Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation 126 The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation 128 Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) 133 Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135		· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	110
cultural factors of change Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135
Language insecurity, palliative language institution building and language legislation 126 The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation 128 Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) 133 Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135		 	123
and language legislation 126 The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation 128 Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) 133 Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135			120
The 1994 Loi Toubon: discourse, legal scope and implementation 128 Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) 133 Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135			126
implementation 128 Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) 133 Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135
Language planning outside France: the Francophonie and the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) 133 Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135			128
the EU 131 RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) 133 Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135
RML legislation: from Deixonne to Lang (1951–2001) Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135		3 3 1	131
Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European Charter for RMLs 135
Charter for RMLs 135		Diversity and multilingualism: debates on the European
, , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , ,			135
		· ·	139

5	Unity and Diversity in Corsica: Patterns of Identity and
	Political Separatism	142
	Introduction	142
	Geography and perceptions of identity - Corsica's
	'double insularity'	143
	From independence to the French aegis	146
	Economic underdevelopment, demography and social fracture	147
	Clanism, state dependency, more social fracture and early forms of regionalism	150
	Regionalisation, regionalism and nationalism in Corsica:
	the ideological and socio-political context of the 1960s/1990s	152
	Corsica and Europeanisation: prospects and limitations	155
	Conclusion	157
6	From one Diglossic Situation to Another - Ideological
Ŭ	and Sociolinguistic Change in Modernising Corsica
	(1769–1974)	160
	Introduction	160
	Corsican-Italian diglossia	162
	Corsican-Italian diglossia versus Corsican-French diglossia:
	from hegemony to glottophagy	165
	Diglossic conflict: French or Italian? language shift and language maintenance in Corsica till the Third Republic	166
	Corsican regionalism and the language question	170
	Conclusion	174
7	Language Institutionalisation in Contemporary Corsica
′	(1974–2005)	177
	Introduction	177
	Language activism, language institutionalisation and	1,, language planning in the 1970s: context, developments
	and outcomes	179
	Language institutionalisation, policy network formation	• • •
	and language planning: overview of the 1980s/1990s	182
	The Rectorat: primary and secondary school education	183
	The University of Corsica	185
	L'Assemblée de Corse	188
	Corsican language use in today's Corsican society:
	quantitative and qualitative aspects	192
	Conclusion	200

8	Language Ideologies, Language Planning and Language
	Attitudes in Contemporary Corsica	203
	Introduction	203
	Contrasted models of language and identity for language planning: diglossic ideology and the polynomic response	205
	The resistance of separation	209
	Language of France or dialect of Italian? The Italianist position	212
	Language purism and the sociolinguistic response	216 Challenging diglossic ideology? Implementing polynomy in schools	219
	Elite and popular responses to language planning: the media
	discourse	223
	Conclusion	227
Ge	eneral Conclusion	230
No	otes	238
Re	ferences	251
Ind	dex	266