

Contents

List of contributors	xiii
Acknowledgements	xv
1 Sustainable practices: social theory and climate change	1
ELIZABETH SHOVE AND NICOLA SPURLING
PART I
How are practices defined and how do they change?	15
2 What sort of a practice is eating?	17
ALAN WARDE
3 The edge of change: on the emergence, persistence and dissolution of practices	31
THEODORE SCHATZKI
PART II
The materials of practice	47
4 Transitions in the wrong direction? Digital technologies and daily life	49
INGE RØPKE AND TOKE H. CHRISTENSEN
5 Mundane materials at work: paper in practice	69
SARI YLI-KAUHALUOMA, MIKA PANTZAR AND SAMMY TOYOKI

PART III
Sharing and circulation	87
6 Practices, movement and circulation: implications for sustainability	89
ALLISON HUI
7 Sharing conventions: communities of practice and thermal comfort	103
RUSSELL HITCHINGS
PART IV
Relations between practices	115
8 Building future systems of velomobility	117
MATT WATSON
9 The making of electric cycling	132
JULIEN MCHARDY
10 Extended bodies and the geometry of practices	146
GRÉGOIRE WALLENBORN
PART V
Sustainability, inequality and power	165
11 Power, sustainability and well being: an outsider's view	167
ANDREW SAYER
12 Inequality, sustainability and capability: locating justice in social practice	181
GORDON WALKER
Index	197