

CONTENTS

List of Figures .....	vii
List of Charts .....	ix
List of Tables .....	xi
Foreword .....	xiii
Acknowledgements .....	xv
 Chapter One Introduction .....	 1
China's New Wave of International Migration .....	1
New Zealand Local Contexts .....	5
New People, New Approach .....	9
Diasporic Chinese Media beyond New Zealand .....	11
 Chapter Two Conceptualising New Zealand Chinese Media .....	 15
Central Concepts .....	16
Towards an Analytical Framework .....	30
 Chapter Three Revisiting the History of New Zealand Chinese and Early Chinese Newspapers .....	 41
Chinese Immigration: From Sojourners to Settlers .....	41
Early Chinese Newspapers .....	48
Rethinking Early Chinese Newspapers .....	57
 Chapter Four New Chinese Immigrants and Contemporary New Zealand Chinese Media .....	 63
A New Wave of Chinese Immigration .....	63
Making a PRC Chinese Community .....	66
PRC Chinese and Others' Settlement .....	73
Evolution of New Chinese Media .....	82
The New Chinese Community in their Own Media .....	87
 Chapter Five Ethnic Chinese Media during the 2005 New Zealand General Election .....	 93
Research Design and Background Information .....	94
Phase 1: New Zealand Election in Chinese Media .....	102
Phase 2: Relationship between Chinese Media and Migrants ....	122

Phase 3: A Perspective from Media Personnel .....	132
Summary .....	135
 Chapter Six Recent PRC Migrants in the Diasporic
Mediasphere .....	137
New Zealand Politics in Ethnic Chinese Media .....	137
Recent PRC Migrants' Affinity with Conservative Parties .....	148
Patriotic Sentiment Towards China .....	158
 Chapter Seven Conclusions .....	165
New Insight into the Chinese in New Zealand .....	165
Expansion of China's 'Soft Power' .....	169
Chinese Media as an 'Imagined Chinatown' .....	172
 Bibliography .....	181
Index .....	193