

Showing Signs of Violence

The Cultural Politics of a Twentieth-Century
Headhunting Ritual

Kenneth M. George

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA PRESS

Berkeley / Los Angeles / London

Contents

MAPS AND FIGURES	ix
PREFACE	xi
1
Relics from Alien Parts: An Introduction	1
2
The Mappurondo Enclave at Bambang	21
3
Defaced Images from the Past: On the Disfigured Histories and Disfiguring Violence of Pangngae	59
4
Violence, Solace, Vows, Noise, and Song: Ritual Headhunting and the Community in Mourning	101
5
Envy, Adornment, and Words That Make the Floor Shake: Pangngae and the Rhetoric of Manhood	134
6
From Violence to Memory: Singing about Singing as a Headhunt Ends in Song	186
7
The Songs of the ToSalu and the ToIssilita': The Horizons of Textuality and Interpretation, 1983–85	201

8
The Spectacle of Dancing Men: Pangngae in the Culture of Indonesian Modernity	238
9
Epilogue: The Headwaters, 1994	264
APPENDIX I: LINGUISTIC AND ORTHOGRAPHIC NOTES	273
APPENDIX II: TABLES	279
APPENDIX III: MUSIC FIGURES	287
NOTES	293
REFERENCES CITED	309
INDEX	327