

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
1 Introduction: Film as Social Philosophy	1
Part One: Film, Technology, and Built Space
2 Enemies of the State? Electronic Surveillance and the Neutrality of Technology	21
3 Wim Wenders's Everyday Aesthetics	55
4 Boyz in the Woods: Los Angeles as Urban Wilderness	79
Part Two: Film, Group Interests, and Political Identity
5 John Sayles on Class Interest	111
6 Spike Lee, Chico Mendes, and the Representation of Political Identity	133
Notes	167
Index	193