

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	xi
Map of Early Christian and Byzantine World	xvi
Plan of Byzantine Constantinople	xvii
PART I. LATE ANTIQUITY (250–500 CE)
Introduction: Thekla	I
1. Ascetic Women and Religious Life in Early Christianity: Macrina	13
2. Pilgrimage: Egeria	29
3. Female Imperial Authority: Empresses of the Theodosian House: Galla Placidia	45
PART II. EARLY BYZANTIUM (500–843)
Introduction: The Problematic for a Study of Byzantine Women	73
4. Sinners and Saints: Women at Risk: Mary of Egypt	78
5. Women and Artistic Patronage: Anicia Juliana	94
6. The Challenge of Theodora	117
7. Ordinary Women in the Orbit of Theodore of Sykeon	146

PART III. THE MIDDLE BYZANTINE PERIOD (843–1204)

Introduction: Women, the Faith in Icons, and the Triumph of Orthodoxy	159
8. Women's Monasticism: Irene of Chrysobalanton	166
9. Women in Art: The Byzantine Image of Female Sanctity: Helena	182
10. Imperial Women and Marriage: Zoe	207
11. The World of Anna Komnene: Anna's Passionate Voice in the Alexiad	238

PART IV. LATE BYZANTIUM (1204–1453)

Introduction: Women's Work	263
12. Founding Mothers and the Testimony of the Typika: Theodora Synadene	268
13. Epilogue: The "Lady of the Mongols"	309
Appendix 1. Genealogy	317
Appendix 2. List of Byzantine Emperors and Empresses	319
Notes	321
Glossary	369
Bibliography	375
Index	391
Colorplates follow page 206	