

What Remains?

Joyce Marie Mushaben

What Remains?

The Dialectical Identities of Eastern Germans

palgrave
macmillan

Joyce Marie Mushaben
BMW Center for German & European Studies
Georgetown University
Washington, D.C., WA, USA

ISBN 978-3-031-18887-9 ISBN 978-3-031-18888-6 (eBook)
<https://doi.org/10.1007/978-3-031-18888-6>

© The Editor(s) (if applicable) and The Author(s), under exclusive licence to Springer Nature Switzerland AG 2023

This work is subject to copyright. All rights are solely and exclusively licensed by the Publisher, whether the whole or part of the material is concerned, specifically the rights of translation, reprinting, reuse of illustrations, recitation, broadcasting, reproduction on microfilms or in any other physical way, and transmission or information storage and retrieval, electronic adaptation, computer software, or by similar or dissimilar methodology now known or hereafter developed.

The use of general descriptive names, registered names, trademarks, service marks, etc. in this publication does not imply, even in the absence of a specific statement, that such names are exempt from the relevant protective laws and regulations and therefore free for general use. The publisher, the authors, and the editors are safe to assume that the advice and information in this book are believed to be true and accurate at the date of publication. Neither the publisher nor the authors or the editors give a warranty, expressed or implied, with respect to the material contained herein or for any errors or omissions that may have been made. The publisher remains neutral with regard to jurisdictional claims in published maps and institutional affiliations.

This Palgrave Macmillan imprint is published by the registered company Springer Nature Switzerland AG.

The registered company address is: Gewerbestrasse 11, 6330 Cham, Switzerland

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Indirectly occupying my thoughts for thirty years, this book proves that national identities are rarely de- and reconstructed in the space of a single generation. While I cannot personally thank the historical muses who put me “in the right place, at the right time” with regard to this project on East German identity, I can express my gratitude to many earth-bound actors who contributed to the production of this book. For starters, I acknowledge the Ford Foundation which financed my initial Fellowship in GDR Studies at the American Institute for Contemporary German Studies (AICGS), 1989–1990, then extended my grant for two months commensurate with the increasing complexity of the topic. I also recognize the BMW Center for German and European Studies at Georgetown University which enabled me to start analyzing my data as its first research fellow, 1990–1991. Likewise included in my thanks are the German Marshall Fund of the United States, the German Academic Exchange Service, the GDR Studies Association of the United States and the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation, whose financial support made it possible for me to travel to the German Democratic Republic at critical turning points, as well as to continue my investigation regarding the fates of eastern residents over the next few decades.

Completion of this book would not have been possible without the sustained support of multiple colleagues at different stages of my research, though some of us have drifted apart since the 1990s. My interactions with “regulars” and visitors at the AICGS ensured access to a broad spectrum of political perspectives on the course of unification, a never-ending flow of newspaper and journal articles, as well as unanticipated opportunities to view the making of history from a front-row seat. I enjoyed the company and friendly assistance of AICGS “co-workers,” especially the late Dr. Manfred Stassen (DAAD), well beyond my year in residence. Co-fellow and subsequent Research Director, Lily Gardner Feldman, provided detailed readings of my work, countless recommendation letters and years of Frauensolidarität well beyond the institute walls. Other intellectual compatriots gratefully discovered by way of my earlier affiliations included Friederike Eigler, Daniela Dahn, Christiane Lemke, Jonathan Olsen, Ann Phillips, Helga Welsh, Pastor Bernd Wrede and Jennifer Yoder. I extend heartfelt thanks to Judith and Reinhard Maiworm (Goethe Institute), who sustained me for years (actually decades) with their professional enthusiasm, private hospitality, personal friendship and a shared belief that it is possible to build a permanently peaceful, democratic German nation.

Nor could I have completed core components of my fieldwork without the assistance and candor of several GDR facilitators, especially my 1990 hosts at the former Central Institute for Youth Research in Leipzig, Wilfried Schubarth, Ulrich Heublein and Rudolf Dennhardt. Siegfried Sach at the GDR Institute for International Relations helped me to secure a number of appointments with leading SED officials (rarely granted to academics from a capitalist-imperialist “enemy state”) during the critical twelve months preceding the 1989 Wende. Klaus Richter, Marianne Eschenbach and Herr Viererbe, wherever he may be, arranged invaluable interviews with parliamentarians from Bundnis '90, the SPD and the CDU, in the wake of the first truly democratic Volkskammer elections. Gisela Richter, Ruth and Hans Misselwitz, Marianne Birthler, Eckhard Priller, Heinrich Bortfeldt and Detlef Pollack provided updates with respect to post-unity currents in the East-Länder during my annual summer sojourns. The University of Missouri-St. Louis accorded me flexible research leave opportunities, while the late Jan Frantzen, Linda Miller and Lana Vierdag helped with successive grant deadlines, allowing me to commit many extraordinary experiences to paper while I still remembered them. My son Joshua provided me with the opportunity to experience the eastern child-care system first-hand in Erfurt. His time at Zwergenland, in turn, supplied him with the German language skills that enabled him to pursue two internships at Schiffshebewerk Niederfinow, as well as a master’s degree at the University of Stuttgart. My particular thanks to German taxpayers for funding not only my research projects but also two years of my son’s graduate education.

Marriage, motherhood and four intervening books delayed the completion of this work, but those years blessed me with new colleague-friends who urged me to continue with this academic equivalent of a painstaking archeological dig. Gabriele Abels and Sabine Lang, especially, extended countless speaking invitations and fantastic hospitality, which kept me going through good times and bad. The wonderful facilities and cheerful assistance of my favorite librarians at the Bundestag Bibliothek in Berlin made sure that the final draft of this book materialized in accordance with the Humboldtian tradition of Einsamkeit und Freiheit. Strange as it sounds, I also owe a certain debt to the otherwise devastating COVID pandemic. The latter kept me seated at my dining room table in front of a laptop for months on end, pulling together a wide assortment of old and new books, government reports, journal articles, newspaper clippings, critical re-reflections and personal memories. This book is dedicated to the millions of “essential workers,” worldwide, who did not enjoy that luxury but whose devotion and hard work made it possible for me to emerge from this difficult time in good health, a little bit older and possibly wiser.

CONTENTS

1	Introduction: Prelude to a German Revolution	1
	Methodology	9
Part I	Dimensions of the Dialectical Identity	17
2	Exit, Voice, and Loyalty: The Theoretical Parameters	21
	A Concentric Approach to Identity Theory	27
	Circle One: Identity as the Bio-Psychology of the Individual	27
	Circle Two: Identity as Social Interaction	31
	Circle Three: Identity as National Consciousness	32
	The Circles Broken: Exit versus Voice	35
	Expanding the Framework: Making the Case for Loyalty	45
	Reinterpreting die Wende, 1989–1990	49
	Identity from Below: Socialist Subcultures	55
3	Selection by Consequences: What Did It Mean to Be GDR-German?	63
	The Parameters of Political Legitimacy	68
	A Spectre Haunting ...: The Stalinist Legacy	74
	Founding Narrative Versus Historical Record	79
	The Quest for Socialist Legitimacy	85
	Redefining the Significance of State, Nation, Nationality	89

	"The Problem of Generations"	98
	Love of the Socialist Fatherland: Ideal Versus the Real	100
	Historicism Versus Materialism	103
Part II	The Deconstruction of Official GDR-Identity	113
4	Real-Existing Socialism: Consumer Culture and Vitamin "B"	115
	The Perils of Planning Under Real-Existing Socialism	118
	Collective Responses to Chronic Scarcities	126
	Intershop Socialism and Its Discontents	134
	Creating the "Socialist Consumer"	138
	The Paradox of Real-Existing Materialism	149
5	"Now out of Never": Exit, Voice, and Riding the Revolutionary Bandwagon	159
	Learning to Live with "Arrangements"	161
	Protest Currents and the Velvet Revolution	165
	Unanticipated Consequences: Freikauf, Expulsions, and Local Reactions	172
	The Dialectical Forces of Exit and Voice	176
	Ostalgie: Marketing East German Memories	183
	Conclusion: Loyalty, Habitus, and "the Wall in One's Head"	188
6	Heimatgefühl and the Reconfiguration of Civil Society	205
	Political "Representation Gaps" in the Eastern Länder	208
	Die Grüne Liga (Green League) of Mecklenburg-Vorpommern	212
	Volkssolidarität (People's Solidarity): Landesverband Berlin	218
	Runder Tisch gegen Gewalt (Round Table Against Violence) in Sachsen-Anhalt	224
	Gleichstellungsstelle-Erfurt (Erfurt Office of Equal Opportunity), Thüringen	229
	Forum Ostdeutschland (SPD) and Aufbau Ost (CDU) in Berlin/Brandenburg and Saxony	234
	The PDS as "Comeback Kid"	241
	"The End of Apprenticeship"	244

Part III	Reconstructing East-German Identities: Peer Cultures	255
7	Conscience of the Nation: Writers, Artisans, and Intellectuals	257
	Cultural Policies and the Forces of Socialist Realism	260
	Anti-fascist Imperatives: Loyalty and the Aufbau Generation	268
	"Profiles in Courage": Christa Wolf and Stefan Heym	272
	The Sixty-Eighters and the Dilemmas of Cultural Revolution	281
	The Post-Wall Literaturstreit: "The West" Versus Christa Wolf	285
	Loyalty, Voice, and the National Question	293
8	From Losers to Winners, and Back: The Stasi, Pastors, and Dissidents	303
	Shield and Sword of the Party: The Ministry for State Security	306
	Opiate of the Masses: The SED and Religion, 1945–1970	316
	From Peaceful Coexistence (1971–1979) to Church from Below (1980–1989)	320
	(Re)Marginalized Voices: Pastors and Politics, 1990–1998	324
	The Helsinki Factor: Loyalty as Dissent	328
	Prosecuting the SED Dictatorship	334
	Loyalty, Voice, and Retributive Justice	341
9	From State Paternalism to Private Patriarchy: East German Women	355
	Gender and Ideology: State Paternalism	357
	Equality without Emancipation: Double Burdens and the "Right to Work"	365
	Revenge of the Cradle: Reproductive Rights and Wrongs	377
	Private Patriarchy and the Re-domestication of Eastern Women	387
	Deutschland einig Mutterland: Gender Policies under Angela Merkel	393
	Winning Women	397

10	The Anti-political Identities of East German Youth	409
	Redefining Class Consciousness: The Uniform Socialist Education System	413
	Not-so-free “Free-time”: FDJ and the Jugendweihe	421
	“Leave Us Kids Alone”: Finding Voice Through Music	429
	From Voice to Exit: Normalos, Avantis, Graftis, Punks, and Skins	435
	Writing for the Panzerschrank at the Central Institute for Youth Research	444
	Through the Looking Glass: Unification and Normative Loyalty	451
	“Be careful what you pray for ...”	462
11	No Country for Old Men: Second-Class Citizenship and its Discontents	475
	The Double Bind of Military Machismo	478
	The Treuhand Versus the “Heroes of Labor”	485
	A Clash of Male Cultures: Eastern Underlings, Western Bosses	492
	Backlash: Far-right Populism and the New Misogynists	495
	Relative Deprivation: Second-Class Citizenship and the “Unhappiness Curve”	502
	Working-Class Men: Winning the Battle, Losing the War	507
12	The Dialectical Identities of Germans United	519
	Caught in the Middle: Die Wendekinder	525
	The Post-Turnaround Generation: Difference Still Matters	529
	The Blessings of Late Birth	532
13	Epilogue: October 3, 2021	539
	Index	545

ABBREVIATIONS

AfD	Alternative für Deutschland /Alternative for Germany
BEK	Bund Evangelische Kirche /Evangelical Church Union
CC	Central Committee of the SED
CDU	Christian Democratic Party
CPSU	Communist Party of the Soviet Union
CSU	Christian Social Union (Bavaria)
DA	Demokratischer Aufbruch /Democratic Awakening
DEFA	German Film Company
DFD	Demokratische Frauenbund Deutschland /Democratic Women's League in Germany
EOS	Expanded secondary school
FDJ	Freie Deutsche Jugend /Free German Youth
FDGB	Freier Deutscher Gewerkschaftsbund /Free German Trade Union Federation
GSS	Gleichstellungsstelle /Office of Equal Opportunity
IFM	Initiative for Peace and Human Rights
KoKo	Kommerzielle Koordinierung /Commercial Coordination
KPD	Communist Party of Germany
MfS	Ministry for State Security
NVA	Nationale Volksarmee /National People's Army
NÖS	New Economic System
PDS	Party of Democratic Socialists
POS	Polytechnical school system
SDP/SPD	Social Democratic Party

SED	Sozialistische Einheitspartei Deutschlands /Socialist Unity Party of Germany
SMAD	Soviet Military Administration (occupation zone)
Stasi	State Security Forces
VEBs	Volkseigene Betriebe /“people’s own factories”
VK	Volkskammer /People’s Chamber
ZIJ	Zentralinstitut für Jugendforschung /Central Institute for Youth Research

LIST OF FIGURES

Fig. 2.1	Concentric model of identity	28
Fig. 2.2	Forms of exit, voice, and loyalty	47
Fig. 8.1	Vladimir Putin's Stasi identification	308
Fig. 8.2	My personal Stasi file: Department XX excerpt	312
Fig. 10.1	Wende attitudes, unemployment and GDR affinity	460
Fig. 10.2	Achieving economic parity and internal unity	462
Fig. 11.1	Number and rate of unemployed workers in Germany, 1980–2019 (in %)	493
Fig. 11.2	West/East vote shares in the Bundestag elections, 1990–2017 (in %)	496
Fig. 11.3	Non-voters and AfD voters, Bundestag Elections 2009 and 2017	499

LIST OF TABLES

Table 4.1	Average gross wages (east marks), according to labor sector, 1955–1988	139
Table 4.2	Annual food/nutritional consumption, 1955–1989	142
Table 4.3	Possession of major household appliances (in %), 1955–1985	147
Table 5.1	Out-migration from the SMAD/GDR to the Federal Republic, 1950–1961	167
Table 5.2	Physical exits, 1961–1989 (including transfers from East to West Berlin)	174
Table 5.3	“Resettlers” from East to West Germany, 1989	179
Table 6.1	New entries in selected registers of associations, 1990–1996	211
Table 6.2	Projected life expectancy in East Germany	219
Table 9.1	Women’s employment across major economic sectors (as a proportion of total employment), 1970–1985	372
Table 9.2	GDR women in political leadership positions, 1971–1985	374
Table 9.3	Number of live births per woman, 1955–1989	380
Table 9.4	Divorces initiated by women and men, 1960–1989	384
Table 9.5	Children born to unwed mothers (% of all live births)	385
Table 9.6	East-West unemployment rates, 1990–1996 (socially insured workers)	389
Table 9.7	Women in state parliaments, 2012 (pre-AfD), and 2022 (with AfD presence)	396
Table 10.1	Class backgrounds of students in higher education, 1960–1966	419
Table 10.2	Trust in the SED (in %)	447
Table 10.3	Identification with the SED (in %)	448
Table 10.4	Identification with Marxism-Leninism	450
Table 10.5	Identification with the goals of the FDJ	451

Table 10.6	Political orientations of youth, 1987–1989	458
Table 10.7	Dimensions of personal identity (in %)	460
Table 10.8	Attitudes reflecting systemic versus normative loyalty; systemic, policy-oriented loyalty elements	463
Table 11.1	Perceptions of the Bundeswehr and willingness to defend the GDR (in %)	483

LIST OF BOXES

Box 1.1	On the Perils of “Collecting Qualitative Data”: Holcolm’s Evaluation Laws	10
Box 3.1	National Anthem of the German Democratic Republic	65
Box 4.1	Understanding “The Plan”	121
Box 5.1	“ Die Lösung ” / “The Solution” (Bertolt Brecht)	166
Box 10.1	The Ten Commandments of Socialist Morals and Ethics	425
Box 10.2	The Jugendweihe Oath (February 17, 1955)	426
Box 10.3	Typical Responses: ZIJ Surveys, 1989	453
Box 11.1	“ Eigentum ” / “Property” (Volker Braun)	490