

Inhalt

Acknowledgments.....	1
1 Introduction .....	5
A few remarks on immigration in Germany.....	5
Thesis topic and aim.....	6
The context of my research topic.....	7
Debate on integration .....	11
Insight into the research background and setting.....	14
Research question.....	17
Material and sources .....	19
Looking for the research field and for interviewees .....	21
The Stadtteilmütter project .....	23
Meeting my first interviewees .....	27
Conducting the interviews .....	32
Behaviour of the interviewer and interviewees .....	37
The interview protocols .....	39

Transcription .....	40
Coding .....	42
Memo writing .....	45
Key points of research .....	47
Control group interviews .....	50
Other research activities .....	52
Personal perspective on research.....	53
2 The Role of the Researcher.....	55
Further explanation.....	56
My own background .....	57
Self-perception in the host society .....	60
Point of view of the researcher.....	63
The impact of the interviews on myself .....	64
Being in the field.....	67
Perception of German mothers / women .....	70
Interaction with the interviewees .....	73
My (lack of) neutrality vs. Bosnian interviews.....	76
Lessons learned from research.....	80
3 The Integration Process.....	85
Several reflections on the concept of integration .....	85
National Integration Plan ( Der Nationale Integrationsplan ).....	87
The integration process from the perspective of Muslim immigrant women .....	92
Integration perceived as assimilation .....	96
Education as a precondition for successful integration .....	104
Importance of language skills .....	106
Disintegration .....	111

Citizenship and the right to vote.....	115
The issue of dual citizenship .....	119
Lack of acceptance .....	121
Muslim immigrants vs. a theatre project .....	125
Discrimination .....	130
Awareness of discrimination in the interviewees.....	134
The integration debate heated by Sarrazin's book .....	138
Evaluation of the integration process.....	140
Concluding remarks .....	144
PART 1 OF THE ANALYSIS – INSTITUTIONAL OBSTACLES .....	149
Overview of the chapters on institutional obstacles.....	149
4 Legal Status and the Ausländerbehörde .....	153
Legal status.....	153
Temporary residence permit ( Aufenthaltserlaubnis ).....	154
Emina.....	154
Selma .....	157
Aida – Aufenthaltserlaubnis after 9 years of Duldung .....	161
Zahra .....	166
Additional comment .....	175
Personal experience with the Ausländerbehörde .....	176
Lack of rights – lack of action.....	182
Institutional discrimination .....	183
Niederlassung (permanent residence permit).....	184
The path from Duldung to Niederlassung .....	185
Niederlassung and security .....	191
Asiye.....	192

German Citizenship.....	195
Nadia.....	195
Lamya.....	200
Leyla.....	203
Yasemin.....	205
Final remarks.....	206
5 Chapter on Education.....	209
Introduction.....	209
Education issues in Berlin.....	211
Teaching quality.....	213
Interview with Nina, a teacher in a secondary school.....	215
Integration concept.....	221
Integration strategy.....	224
The magical word Gymnasium .....	229
Aida's anxiety over the Gymnasium choice.....	231
A Gymnasium in Kreuzberg.....	234
Leyla's anxiety about Gymnasium .....	238
Interview with Ms Susem, the Stadtteilmutter course instructor.....	242
Parent representatives – Elternvertreter .....	246
Perspective of a second-generation immigrant.....	248
Achievement vs. Ethnic background.....	253
Concluding remarks.....	257
6 Employment and the Job Centre.....	259
Job Centre.....	259
Emina's situation vs. Lamya's situation.....	263
Lamya's situation.....	267

One-Euro-Job programme.....	274
My observation at the Job Centre .....	276
Control group interviews .....	277
Interview with Ms Songül Süsem-Kessel .....	277
Interview with Ms Anke Overbeck.....	280
Discrimination in the employment process .....	284
Anonymous application campaign .....	286
Placing of Muslim women into the general labour market .....	287
Job Centre officials.....	291
Challenges at work .....	292
Intercultural openness .....	294
The concept of intercultural openness.....	296
Client perspective .....	297
Process perspective .....	299
Learning and growing perspective.....	300
Finance and monitoring perspective.....	302
The process as seen by the Job Centre management .....	303
Additional remarks .....	303
Several Remarks on Part One of the Analysis.....	305
PART 2 OF THE ANALYSIS – THE IMAGE OF IMMIGRANTS .....	307
7 Identity .....	307
Overview of the chapters .....	307
Contact with my first interviewee .....	308
Emina's home .....	309
The eternal "Other".....	310
The new Germans – neue Deutsche .....	315

Identity vs. culture.....317

Family vs. German family.....320

Arab families within German society .....322

Zahra’s perception of German families..... 327

Ethnicising of Turkish children .....330

Claiming the right to German identity .....334

Hope for the new generations ..... 337

Additional remarks on the interview with Nadia.....338

National identity as a defence mechanism against
Duldung status.....339

Irrelevance of identity.....343

Identity of hard-working people .....344

A personal remark on identity .....347

Islam .....348

Religion vs. Tradition .....351

Niqab vs. hijab .....356

Hijab..... 357

Meaning of hijab.....359

Ban on the hijab in public service ..... 364

No place for the hijab in public service ..... 368

Convergence of integration elements.....370

8 The Perception of Immigrants .....373

The perception of immigrants..... 373

Perception of Muslim immigrant women ..... 375

Experience from Eastern Berlin .....378

“Blood, Black, Hijab – Muslims”..... 381

Interview with the ZDF.....385

Conflict between acceptance and rejection.....	388
Integrated – yes, accepted – no .....	392
We love you, Berlin ( Liebeserklärung an Berlin ) .....	394
Self-perceptions of Muslim immigrant women .....	399
“The house does not rest on the ground, but on the woman” .....	400
Strong women.....	405
Internalised perception of fragile women.....	407
The mother as a role model.....	409
Being a good mother – an asset in the integration process .....	414
Emancipated Muslim women .....	419
“Die deutsche Frau ist eine Blume ohne schönen Geruch” .....	427
Several observations .....	429
Stadtteilmütter.....	432
Interview with Ms Süsem-Kessel, the course instructor .....	432
Personal development of women .....	433
Bitterness in women .....	435
Integration issues – pressure on immigrants .....	436
Making a difference in society .....	437
Issues of Stadtteilmütter clients .....	439
Personal experiences with the project.....	441
Challenges at work.....	443
Different aspects of Stadtteilmütter work .....	446
Non-participant observation – the Stadtteilmütter family café .....	448
Familiencafé visitors .....	449
Several remarks .....	452
Participant observation activity at a Bosnian-Syrian wedding .....	452
Visiting Emina during Eid holidays .....	456

9 Summary of Results..... 461

    Explaining the line of reasoning .....461

Building up the categories..... 463

    Coding paradigm model .....466

    Discrimination emerging as the central phenomenon ..... 470

    Reflecting on the research question .....473

    Overview of the immigration situation in Germany.....478

    The Immigration Act of 2005 and integration as a top priority ..... 479

    Brief comment on the title of the Zuwanderungsgesetz.....481

    Aspects of Integration in Germany.....483

    The Federal Office for Migration and Refugees (BAMF) ..... 486

10 Conclusion .....489

    Problem with the term “integration” .....489

    Limitations of the research ..... 492

    Changing the image of Germany .....494

    Observing one’s environment .....496

References.....499

Appendix 1 – Transcript of Interview with Emina.....517

Appendix 2 – Transcript of Interview with Lamya ..... 565