

Contents

Preface	7
----------------	---

Thomas N. Headland, Kenneth L. Pike, and Marvin Harris

1. Introduction: A Dialogue Between Kenneth Pike and Marvin Harris on Emics and Etics	13
Thomas N. Headland

Part I: The Dialogue

2. On the Emics and Etics of Pike and Harris	28
Kenneth L. Pike
3. Emics and Etics Revisited	48
Marvin Harris
4. Pike's Reply to Harris	62
Kenneth L. Pike
5. Harris's Reply to Pike	75
Marvin Harris

Part II: Reviews of the Dialogue and of the History and Significance of Emics and Etics

6. Imposed Etics, Emics, and Derived Etics: Their Conceptual and Operational Status in Cross-Cultural Psychology	84
John W. Berry
7. Emic Analysis and the Limits of Cognitive Diversity	100
Robert Feleppa
8. Emics, Etics, and Openness: An Ecumenical Approach	120
Dell H. Hymes

9. Emics and Etics: Notes on the Epistemology of Anthropology	127
James Lett
10. Anthropology, Evangelization, and Abortion: Applications of Emics and Etics	143
Gerald F. Murray
11. The Phoneme's Long Shadow	164
Willard V. Quine
12. The Emic-Etic Distinction as Applied to Language	168
Nira Reiss
 Part III: A Final Response
13. Pike's Final Response	184
Kenneth L. Pike
14. Harris's Final Response	202
Marvin Harris
 Index	 217
About the Contributors	224