

Contents

Figures and Tables	ix
Acknowledgements	xi
Introduction	1
1 Marking Out the Middle Classes in London	7
2 Gentrification of the Global City: a Middle-class Coping Strategy?	23
3 Spatial Difference and Strategic Middle-class Activity	33
4 Mapping the Neighbourhoods	49
5 A Class In and For Itself?	79
6 Home and Household	109
7 Children, Schooling and Social Reproduction	139
8 Twenty-first Century Gentrification	161
9 Conclusions	185
Bibliography	195
Index	205

Figures and Tables

Figures

4.1	London showing the study areas	50
4.2	Barnsbury study area	51
4.3	Telegraph Hill study area	54
4.4	Brixton study areas	56
4.5	'Between the commons' Battersea study area	58
4.6	London Fields study area	61
4.7	Docklands showing Isle of Dogs, Surrey Quays and Britannia Village	63
4.8	Distribution of fields across the metropolitan markets	69
4.9	Possible positions in the field of education	73
4.10	Social typology and relationships in education	74

Tables

4.1	Educational fields and fieldwork areas	70
4.2	Metropolitan housing field characteristics	75
4.3	Absence/presence of cultural infrastructure	76
6.1	Age of respondents	111
6.2	Household composition (%)	112
6.3	Respondents' social class	115
6.4	Respondents' social class by area (%)	116
6.5	Total gross annual household income for multiple person households and respondent's income for single person households and for all respondents	116
6.6	Household income for multiple person households by area (%)	117
6.7	Professional-managerial distribution by area (%)	120
6.8	Respondents' socio-economic group (%)	120
6.9	Employer's business by area (%)	121
6.10	Trade union membership by area (%)	122
6.11	Respondents' childhood home by area (%)	122
6.12	Father's socio-economic group by area (%)	123

Figures and Tables

6.13	Higher education institution by area (%)	125
6.14	Distribution of households with children by area	127
6.15	Children's friendship/socialization patterns (%)	128
6.16	Where does your best friend now live by area (%)	129
6.17	Origin of friendship by area (%)	130
6.18	Leisure	131
6.19	Respondent leisure activities by area (%)	133
6.20	Non work association memberships by area (%)	134
6.21	National party political support (%)	135
7.1	School destinations of respondents' children by area	144
7.2	Number of children being schooled outside the borough	145
7.3	Reason given for schooling outside the borough of residence	145
7.4	Preferred secondary school options of respondents with primary or pre-school children	146