

Contents

Acknowledgements .....	5
Contents .....	7
1 Introduction .....	13
2 Eradicating the Obvious .....	17
3 World Religions and World Orders .....	25
The Concept of Religion .....	25
Essential, Secular and Inclusive Singularity .....	28
Different Sorts of Global Religion .....	33
The Influence of Particulars .....	40
4 Tools, Machines and Marvels .....	45
Masterful Machinery .....	45
Artificial Lives .....	50
Philosophical Fantasms .....	57
The Coming Age? .....	59
5 Making up Animals .....	67
The Real and the Fabulous .....	67
The Moral Status of Artefacts .....	69
Modern Engineering Projects .....	76
Visionary Projects: Supermen and Talking Beasts .....	83
The Abolition of Nature .....	86
6 The End of the Ages .....	91
Making the Wheel of Time .....	91
Why Beginnings and Endings Matter .....	97
Apocalypse Now .....	103
Breaking the Wheel .....	108

7 Have Biologists Wrapped up Philosophy?.....	115
The New Enlightenment .....	115
The Charge of Rhetoric and Some Flawed Responses .....	119
The Darwinian Programme.....	127
Reaffirming the Real .....	135
8 From Biosphere to Technosphere .....	139
Making a Human World.....	139
The End of Nature .....	143
Far Futures and Near Futures.....	145
Securing the Technosphere .....	149
The Return of Nature .....	155
9 Posthumanism: engineering in the place of ethics.....	158
Folk Remedies and Modernity .....	158
The Circularity of the Human Predicament .....	160
The Old and the New Breeding Programmes .....	164
The Posthuman Future .....	170
10 Elves, Hobbits, Trolls and Talking Beasts .....	173
Oral and Archaeological Prehistory .....	173
The Coming Races .....	180
The Divine Image.....	184
11 C.J.Cherryh: The Ties that Bind .....	189
C.J.Cherryh.....	189
Foreigners.....	191
Friendship, Philia and Association .....	195
Baji-Naji, Religion and the Rule of Numbers.....	201
12 Blossoming in the Morn of Days .....	209
Foolishly Imagining the Future.....	209
A Passing Fancy .....	218

The Future of the Species..... 225

Stapledon and Beyond..... 231

Index ..... 237