

Contents

| | |
|--|------------|
| PREFACE | vii |
| INTRODUCTION | I |
| Migration Theory | |
| Talking across Disciplines | |
| Caroline B. Brettell and James F. Hollifield | |
| CHAPTER I | |
| History and the Study of Immigration | 31 |
| Narratives of the Particular | |
| Hasia R. Diner | |
| CHAPTER 2 | |
| Demographic Analyses of International Migration | 51 |
| Michael S. Teitelbaum | |
| CHAPTER 3 | |
| Are Immigrants Favorably Self-Selected? | 63 |
| An Economic Analysis | |
| Barry R. Chiswick | |
| CHAPTER 4 | |
| The Sociology of Immigration | 83 |
| From Assimilation to Segmented Assimilation, from the American Experience to the Global Arena | |
| Barbara Schmitter Heisler | |
| CHAPTER 5 | |
| Theorizing Migration in Anthropology | 113 |
| The Social Construction of Networks, Identities, Communities, and Globalscapes | |
| Caroline B. Brettell | |

| | |
|---|------------|
| CONTENTS | vi |
| CHAPTER 6 | |
| Place, Space, and Pattern | 161 |
| Geographical Theories in International Migration | |
| Susan W. Hardwick | |
| CHAPTER 7 | |
| The Politics of International Migration | 183 |
| How Can We “Bring the State Back In”? | |
| James F. Hollifield | |
| CHAPTER 8 | |
| Law and the Study of Migration | 239 |
| Peter H. Schuck | |
| CHAPTER 9 | |
| Rebooting Migration Theory | 259 |
| Interdisciplinarity, Globality, and Postdisciplinarity in Migration Studies | |
| Adrian Favell | |
| CONTRIBUTORS | 279 |
| INDEX | 283 |