

Contents

From the Authors xv

About the Authors 1

CHAPTER 1 Introduction to Social Psychology 2

The Mysteries of Social Life 3

What Is Social Psychology? 5

Describing and Explaining Social Behavior 5

Social Psychology Is an Interdisciplinary Bridge 6

Major Theoretical Perspectives of Social Psychology 7

The Sociocultural Perspective 7

The Evolutionary Perspective 8

The Social Learning Perspective 10

The Social Cognitive Perspective 11

Combining Perspectives 12

Basic Principles of Social Behavior 13

Social Behavior Is Goal Oriented 14

The Interaction Between the Person and the Situation 16

How Psychologists Study Social Behavior 17

■ BRIDGING METHOD AND EVIDENCE

Why Good Theories Need Good Data 18

Descriptive Methods 19

Correlation and Causation 23

Experimental Methods 23

Why Social Psychologists Combine Different
Methods 26

Ethical Issues in Social Psychological Research 28

Social Psychology's Bridges with
Other Areas of Knowledge 30

Social Psychology and Other Areas of Psychology 30

Social Psychology and Other Disciplines 32

Revisiting The Mysteries of Social Life 33

Chapter Summary 34

Key Terms 35

CHAPTER 2 The Person and the Situation 36

The Enigma of an Ordinary and Extraordinary
Man 37

The Person 38

Motivation: What Drives Us 38

Knowledge: Our View of the World 42

Feelings: Attitudes, Emotions, and Moods 44

■ BRIDGING METHOD AND EVIDENCE

Assessing Feelings 45

Introducing the Self 49

The Situation 53

Persons as Situations: Mere Presence, Affordances, and Descriptive Norms 54

■ BRIDGING FUNCTION AND DYSFUNCTION

*Descriptive Norms, Pluralistic Ignorance, and Binge
Drinking on Campus* 56

Rules: Injunctive Norms and Scripted
Situations 57

Strong versus Weak Situations 59

Culture 59

The Person and the Situation Interact 62

Different Persons Respond Differently to the Same Situation 63

■ BRIDGING THEORY AND APPLICATION

Person–Situation Fit in the Workplace 64

Situations Choose the Person 65

Persons Choose Their Situations 65

Different Situations Prime Different Parts of the Person 65

Persons Change the Situation 67

Situations Change the Person 67

Revisiting The Enigma of an Ordinary and Extraordinary Man 68

Chapter Summary 70

Key Terms 71

CHAPTER 3

Social Cognition: Understanding Ourselves and Others 72

Portraits of Hillary Rodham Clinton 73

The Social Thinker 75

Four Core Processes of Social Cognition 75
The Goals of Social Cognition 76

Conserving Mental Effort 77

Expectations 78

■ BRIDGING FUNCTION AND DYSFUNCTION

The Self-Fulfilling Prophecy 78

Dispositional Inferences 79
Other Cognitive Shortcuts: Heuristics 82
Arousal and Circadian Rhythms 83
Need for Structure 84
Complex Situations and Time Pressure 84
When the World Doesn't Fit Our Expectations 85

Managing Self-Image 86

Cognitive Strategies for Enhancing and Protecting the Self 87

■ BRIDGING THEORY AND APPLICATION

Control Beliefs and Health 90

Self-Esteem 91
Threats to Self-Esteem 91
When Self-Esteem Is Fragile 93
How Culturally Universal Is the Need for Positive Self-Regard? 93

Seeking an Accurate Understanding 94

Unbiased Information Gathering 95
Considering Alternatives 96
Attributional Logic: Seeking the Causes of Behavior 96
Mood 98
Need for Cognition 98
Unexpected Events 100
Social Interdependence 100
Accuracy Motivation Requires Cognitive Resources 101

Revisiting The Portraits of Hillary Rodham Clinton 102

Chapter Summary 103

Key Terms 105

CHAPTER 4

Presenting the Self 106

The Amazing Lives of Fred Demara 107

What Is Self-Presentation? 109

Why Do People Self-Present? 109
When Do People Self-Present? 110
The Nature of Self-Presentation 112

■ BRIDGING THEORY AND APPLICATION

Detecting Deception 113

Appearing Likable 116

Strategies of Ingratiation 117

■ BRIDGING METHOD AND EVIDENCE

The Science of Deciphering Facial Expressions 118

Gender and Ingratiation 123
Potential Friends and Power-Holders 123
Multiple Audiences 124

Appearing Competent 125

Strategies of Self-Promotion 126

■ BRIDGING FUNCTION AND DYSFUNCTION

The Paradox of Self-Handicapping 128

Competence Motivation and Shyness 129
When Competence Matters 130
Competence Checks 131
The Interpersonal Cycle of Self-Promotion 131

Conveying Status and Power 132

Strategies for Conveying Status and Power 132
Gender, Status, and Power 135
Threatened Images, New Resources 137
Different Strategies for Different Audiences 137

Revisiting The Amazing Lives of Fred Demara 138

Chapter Summary 140

Key Terms 141

CHAPTER 5

Attitudes and Persuasion 142

The Changing Story of Peter Reilly 143

The Nature of Attitudes 144

- Attitude Formation 145
- Attitude Strength 146
- Attitude–Behavior Consistency 147

What Is Persuasion? 149

- Measuring Attitude Change 149

■ BRIDGING METHOD AND EVIDENCE

The After-Only Design 151

- Cognitive Responses: Self-Talk Persuades 152

■ BRIDGING THEORY AND APPLICATION

Smoking the Tobacco Companies with Counterarguments 154

- Dual Process Models of Persuasion: Two Routes to Change 155
- The Goals of Persuasion: Why People Change Their Attitudes and Beliefs 159

Having an Accurate View of the World 160

- Good Shortcuts to Accuracy 160
- What Affects the Desire for Accuracy? 163

■ BRIDGING FUNCTION AND DYSFUNCTION

Defeating Defensiveness and Denial 165

Being Consistent in One's Attitudes and Actions 167

- Balance Theory 167
- Cognitive Dissonance Theory 168
- What Affects the Desire for Cognitive Consistency? 171
- Consistency and Culture 173

Gaining Social Approval 174

- Self-Monitoring 174
- Gender: Women, Men, and Persuasion 175
- The Expectation of Discussion and Self-Monitoring 175

Revisiting The Story of Peter Reilly 177

Chapter Summary 178

Key Terms 179

CHAPTER 6

Social Influence: Conformity, Compliance, and Obedience 180

The Extraordinary Turnaround (and Around) of Steve Hassan 181

Categories of Social Influence: Conformity, Compliance, and Obedience 183

- Conformity: Asch's Research on Group Influence 183
- Compliance: The "Foot-in-the-Door" Technique 185

■ BRIDGING METHOD AND EVIDENCE

Participant Observation 186

- Obedience: Milgram's Shock(ing) Procedure 188
- The Goals of Social Influence 190

Choosing Correctly: Yielding to be Right 191

- Authority 191
- Social Validation 193

■ BRIDGING FUNCTION AND DYSFUNCTION

Contagious Delusions and Solutions 194

- Consensus and Similarity 195
- Uncertainty 196

Gaining Social Approval: Yielding to be Liked 198

- Social Norms: Codes of Conduct 199
- What Personal Factors Affect the Impact of Social Approval? 202
- What Situational Factors Affect the Impact of Social Approval? 204
- Who's Strong Enough to Resist Strong Group Norms? 205

■ BRIDGING THEORY AND APPLICATION

Doing Wrong by Trying to Do Right 206

Managing Self-Image: Yielding to be Consistent 207

- Commitment-Initiating Tactics 208
- Harnessing Existing Commitments 210
- Active and Public Commitments 211
- Gender and Public Conformity 212

Revisiting The Turnaround of Steve Hassan 213

Chapter Summary 215

Key Terms 217

CHAPTER 7 Affiliation and Friendship 218

The Fugitive Who Befriended the God-King 219

What Is a Friend? 220

Studying Real-Life Relationships 220

■ BRIDGING METHOD AND EVIDENCE

Studying Intimate Relationships without Really Being There 221

Goals of Affiliation and Friendship 223

Getting Social Support 224

■ BRIDGING THEORY AND APPLICATION

Health Psychology and Emotional Support 225

Do Women Tend to Befriend While Men Fight or Take Flight? 226

Threats: Why Misery (Sometimes) Loves Company 228

Pushing Support Away 229

■ BRIDGING FUNCTION AND DYSFUNCTION

The Self-Perpetuating Cycle of Loneliness and Depression 229

Attachment and Social Development 231

Getting Information 232

Social Comparison and Liking for Similar Others 233

Self-Disclosers and Nondisclosers 233

Uncertainty about Important Issues 234

Similarity to Us 235

When Dissimilarity Can Save Self-Esteem 236

Gaining Status 237

Men's Friendships Are More Hierarchical 237

Status by Association 238

Men's Status-Seeking May Erode Social Support 239

Exchanging Material Benefits 240

Fundamental Patterns of Social Exchange 241

Individual Differences in Communal Orientation 242

Communal and Exchange Relationships 243

Proximity and Social Capital 243

Distant Friends: Television, Facebook, and the Internet 244

Are Exchange Relationships Different in Western and Non-Western Cultures? 245

Revisiting The Fugitive Who Befriended the God-King 246

Chapter Summary 247

Key Terms 249

CHAPTER 8 Love and Romantic Relationships 250

The Love Affair of "The Elephant and the Dove" 251

Defining Love and Romantic Attraction 252

The Defining Features of Love 252

■ BRIDGING METHOD AND EVIDENCE

Uncovering the Different Factors of Love 253

Are There Different Varieties of Love? 253

The Goals of Romantic Relationships 254

Obtaining Sexual Gratification 255

Who's Sexually Attractive? 255

Gender Differences in Sexuality 257

Hormones and Sexual Desire 258

Sociosexual Orientation 259

Homosexual and Bisexual Attraction 260

Arousing Settings 261

Cultural Norms about Sexuality 262

Sexual Situations Look Different to Men and Women 263

Cultural Practices May Trick Evolved Mechanisms 263

Establishing Family Bonds 264

The Importance of Attachment 265

Attachment Style 265

Exchange/Communal Orientation 267

Threats Magnify Attachment 267

■ BRIDGING FUNCTION AND DYSFUNCTION

Obsessive Relationships and Unrequited Love 268

Jealousy and Same-Sex Competitors 269

Relationships Change Our Personalities 270

Gaining Resources and Social Status 271

Gender and Sexual Orientation 271

Culture, Resources, and Polygamy 274

Social Exchange in Committed Relationships 275

When Dominance Matters 276

Breaking Up (and Staying Together) 278

Some People Are Better at Getting Along 278

Some Situations Pull Couples Apart 279

Interactions: It Takes Two to Tango 279

■ BRIDGING THEORY AND APPLICATION

Studying Healthy Communication to Save Marriages 280

Revisiting The Love Affair of "The Elephant and the Dove" 281

Chapter Summary 282

Key Terms 285

CHAPTER 9

Prosocial Behavior 286

The Strange Case of Sempo Sugihara 287

The Goals of Prosocial Behavior 289

Improving Our Basic Welfare: Gaining Genetic and Material Benefits 289

Insights into the Evolution of Help 290

■ BRIDGING METHOD AND EVIDENCE

Using Behavioral Genetics to Study Helping 291

Learning to Help 292

Similarity and Familiarity 293

■ BRIDGING THEORY AND APPLICATION

Getting Help by Adjusting the Helper's Sense of "We" 294

Gaining Social Status and Approval 296

Social Responsibility: The Helping Norm 297

Desire for Approval 300

Effects of Those around Us 300

Gender and Help 301

Managing Self-Image 303

Personal Norms and Religious Codes 303

Labeling and Self-Focus 306

Deciding Not to Help Friends or to Seek Their Help 307

■ BRIDGING FUNCTION AND DYSFUNCTION

Failing to Seek Needed Help 308

Managing Our Emotions and Moods 309

Managing Emotional Arousal in Emergencies: The Arousal/Cost–Reward Model 310

Managing Mood in Nonemergencies: The Negative State Relief Model 311

Does Pure Altruism Exist? 314

The Empathy–Altruism Sequence 315

An Egotistic Interpretation 316

Revisiting The Case of Sempo Sugihara 317

Chapter Summary 318

Key Terms 319

CHAPTER 10

Aggression 320

A Wave of Senseless Violence 321

What Is Aggression? 322

Different Types of Aggression 323

Gender Differences in Aggression May Depend on Your Definition 323

The Goals of Aggressive Behavior 325

Coping with Feelings of Annoyance 326

The Frustration–Aggression Hypothesis 327

Feelings of Arousal and Irritability 328

Unpleasant Situations 329

Annoyance Leads to Changes in Perception of Situations 330

Some People Create Their Own Annoying Situations 332

Gaining Material and Social Rewards 333

■ BRIDGING FUNCTION AND DYSFUNCTION

Gangland Violence 333

Social Learning Theory: Rewarding Violence 334

Who Finds Rewards in Violence? 335

Glamorized Violence in the Media 336

■ BRIDGING METHOD AND EVIDENCE

Using Meta-Analysis to Examine the Effects of Violent Media 337

Violent Media Magnify Violent Inclinations 340

Gaining or Maintaining Social Status 341

Aggression and Sexual Selection 341

Sex and Testosterone 342

Insults and the Culture of Honor 343

When Status Matters 345

Protecting Oneself or Others 346

Self-Defenders 347

Perceived Threats 348

Self-Protective Aggression Can Increase Danger 349

Reducing Violence 349

Rewarding Alternatives to Aggression 350

■ BRIDGING THEORY AND APPLICATION

Using Cognition to Manage Angry Arousal 350

Legal Punishments 352

Prevention by Removing Threats 352

Revisiting Senseless Violence 353

Chapter Summary 355

Key Terms 357

CHAPTER 11

Prejudice, Stereotyping, and Discrimination 358

The Unlikely Journey of Ann Atwater and C. P. Ellis 359

Planet Prejudice 360

Prejudice and Stereotypes 362

Discrimination 363

The Costs of Prejudice, Stereotyping, and Discrimination 364

The Goals of Prejudice, Stereotyping, and Discrimination 367

Supporting and Protecting One's Groups 367

Creating and Maintaining Ingroup Advantage 368

Social Dominance Orientation 370

Intergroup Competition 370

The Self-Fulfilling Spiral of Intergroup Competition 371

Seeking Social Approval 373

Religiosity and Prejudice 373

Prejudice Norms Change Over Time 374

Perceived Social Standing and Prejudice Expression 375

Managing Self-Image 376

Personal and Social Identities 376

Ingroup Identification 377

Authoritarianism and Prejudice 378

■ BRIDGING FUNCTION AND DYSFUNCTION

The Authoritarian Personality 378

Failure and Self-Image Threat 379

Self-Esteem and Threat 380

Seeking Mental Efficiency 381

The Characteristics of Efficient Stereotypes 383

■ BRIDGING METHOD AND EVIDENCE

The Social Neuroscience of Automatic and Controlled Prejudice, Stereotyping, and Discrimination 384

Need for Structure 386

Moods and Emotions 386

Cognitively Taxing Circumstances 386

Overheard Ethnic Slurs 387

Reducing Prejudice, Stereotyping, and Discrimination 389

Interventions Based on the Ignorance Hypothesis 389

The Goal-Based Approach 389

When Contact Helps 391

■ BRIDGING THEORY AND APPLICATION

Cooperation in the Classroom 394

Revisiting The Journey of Ann Atwater and C. P. Ellis 395

Chapter Summary 397

Key Terms 399

CHAPTER 12

Groups 400

Blowing the Whistle on Hidden Group Pathologies 401

The Nature of Groups 403

The Mere Presence of Others and Social Facilitation 403

Crowds and Deindividuation 405

Groups as Dynamic Systems: The Emergence of Norms 406

■ BRIDGING METHOD AND EVIDENCE

Using Computer Simulation to Explore Complex Group Processes 406

"Real" Groups 408

Why Do People Belong to Groups? 410

Getting Things Done 411

Lightening the Load, Dividing the Labor 411

■ BRIDGING FUNCTION AND DYSFUNCTION

The Social Disease of Social Loafing 412

Expectations of Individual Failure and Group Success 414

Current Needs, Individualistic Societies 414

When Are Groups Most Productive? 415

Making Accurate Decisions 418

The Need to Know 418

Uncertain Circumstances 419

Discussion and Decision Making 420

■ BRIDGING THEORY AND APPLICATION

Majority and Minority Influence in the Jury Room 422

Gaining Positions of Leadership 426

Who Wants to Lead? 427

When Opportunity Knocks 428

Who Gets to Lead? 429

When Are Leaders Effective? 429

Revisiting The Revealed Pathologies of the FBI, Enron, and WorldCom 432

Chapter Summary 435

Key Terms 437

CHAPTER 13

Social Dilemmas: Cooperation versus Conflict 438

Contrasting Future Worlds 439

Defining Social Dilemmas 441

■ BRIDGING FUNCTION AND DYSFUNCTION

The Tragedy of the Commons 441

Interlocking Problems and Solutions 443

What Goals Underlie Global Social Dilemmas? 444

Gaining Immediate Satisfaction 445

Social Traps 445

Egoistic versus Prosocial Orientations 446

Changing the Consequences of Short-Sighted Selfishness 448

Matching Interventions with Motives 451

Defending Ourselves and Valued Others 452

Outgroup Bias and International Conflict 452

Some of Us Are More Defensive Than Others 453

Competition and Threat 456

■ BRIDGING METHOD AND EVIDENCE

Time-Series Analysis and International Cooperation 458

Intercultural Misperception and International Conflict 461

The Reciprocal Dynamics of Cooperation and Conflict 462

■ BRIDGING THEORY AND APPLICATION

Increasing Intergroup Cooperation with the GRIT Strategy 465

Revisiting The Future 467

Chapter Summary 468

Key Terms 469

Glossary 501

References 507

Name Index 583

Subject Index 607

Photo Credits 619

CHAPTER 14

Integrating Social Psychology 470

Public Spectacles, Hidden Conspiracies, and Multiple Motives 471

What Ground Have We Covered? 473

Finding and Theories 474

Major Theoretical Perspectives of Social Psychology 474

The Sociocultural Perspective 475

The Evolutionary Perspective 476

The Social Learning Perspective 479

The Social Cognitive Perspective 479

Are Gender Differences in Our Genes, in Our Cultural Learning Experiences, or All in Our Minds? 480

Combining the Different Perspectives 482

Social Behavior Is Goal Oriented 483

■ BRIDGING FUNCTION AND DYSFUNCTION

The Thin Line between Normal and Abnormal Social Functioning 485

The Interaction between the Person and the Situation 488

Why Research Methods Matter 491

■ BRIDGING METHOD AND EVIDENCE

Some Conclusions for Consumers of Social Science Information 492

How Does Social Psychology Fit into the Network of Knowledge? 494

■ BRIDGING THEORY AND APPLICATION

Social Psychology's Usefulness for Business, Medicine, and Law 495

The Future of Social Psychology 497

Chapter Summary 498

Key Terms 499