

Contents

| | |
|---|---------|
| Acknowledgements | page ix |
| Note on translation | xii |
| Introduction: French politics after the deluge | 1 |
| Part I Writing the national narrative in contemporary France | |
| The return of republicanism | |
| 1 Writing histories: two republican narratives | 9 |
| 2 From nouveaux philosophes to nouveaux réactionnaires : Marxism and the Republic | 32 |
| 3 La République en danger! The search for consensus and the rise of neo-republican politics | 55 |
| 4 Post-colonies I: integration, disintegration and citizenship | 80 |
| 5 The Republic, the Anglo-Saxon and the European project | 105 |
| Part II Liberal critics of contemporary France | |
| Le libéralisme introuvable? | |
| 6 In the shadow of Raymond Aron: the 'liberal revival' of the 1980s | 135 |
| 7 Rewriting Jacobinism: François Furet, Pierre Rosanvallon and modern French history | 158 |
| 8 Post-colonies II: the politics of multiculturalism and colonial memory | 186 |
| 9 Whither the Trente Glorieuses? The language of crisis and the reform of the state | 209 |
| | vii |

| | | |
|----|---|-----|
| 10 | Liberal politics in France: a story of failure? | 233 |
| | Conclusion: the search for consensus in twenty-first-century France | 261 |
| | Bibliography | 265 |
| | Index | 293 |