

Summary Contents

Preface xiii

GENERAL INTRODUCTION

1. The Middle East Nonviolent Revolution: A Philosophical Manifesto 3

PART ONE | REVOLUTION

2. Introduction: Nonviolence between Order of Reasons and Decrees of Reality 29
3. A Brief History of Nonviolence in the Middle East 33
4. Shattered Political Language: Reconstructing a Humanist Culture of Nonviolence 69
5. Nonviolence: The Central Philosophical Paradox 99
6. Conclusion: Rhythms of Nonviolence 119

PART TWO | CONSTITUTIONALISM

7. Introduction 123
8. Caveat: Against Secession 125
9. Constitutional Ruins and the Unfathomable Politics of Transition 133
10. Constitution-Writing: LEJFARC's Universal Template 153
11. Middle Eastern Constitutionalism 175
12. Conclusion: Constitutionalism and Nonviolence 211

PART THREE | JUSTICE

13. Introduction: The Order of Reasons Restated 217
14. "Dictatorship Is a Crime against Humanity" 221
15. Middle Eastern Precedents and Universal Trends 245
16. The Pyramid of Accountability 289
17. Justice and Nonviolence 315
18. Coda: On Foreign Intervention and Nonviolence 333
19. Epilogue: The 2011 Anima 343

BIBLIOGRAPHY 349

INDEX 381

Detailed Contents

Preface xiii

Synopsis xiv

Highlights xv

Acknowledgments xvi

GENERAL INTRODUCTION

1. The Middle East Nonviolent Revolution: A Philosophical Manifesto 3

Definitions 3

A Philosophical Manifesto 12

Revolution and Philosophy 14

PART ONE | REVOLUTION

2. Introduction: Nonviolence between Order of Reasons and Decrees of Reality 29

3. A Brief History of Nonviolence in the Middle East 33

Basics of Nonviolence Again 35

Dates and Birthdates 36

Protagonists and Leadership 38

Women and Nonviolent Revolution 46

Causes 47

Process 51

The Spiral 61

4. Shattered Political Language: Reconstructing a Humanist Culture of Nonviolence 69

Shattered Political Language 69

Terrorism 70

Fitna and Other Polysemies 73

Reconstructing Nonviolent Culture in the Humanist Tradition 81

The Kawakibi Template 84

Poet Philosophers 87

- Philosophy and Sufism 90
- Writing Unviolent History 92
- A Cautionary Conclusion 95

5. Nonviolence: The Central Philosophical Paradox 99

6. Conclusion: Rhythms of Nonviolence 119

PART TWO | CONSTITUTIONALISM

7. Introduction 123

8. Caveat: Against Secession 125

9. Constitutional Ruins and the Unfathomable Politics of Transition 133

Constitutional Ruins and the New Order 133

Republic Meets Monarchy: The Middle East Monarblc 137

The Unfathomable Politics of Transition 141

Constitutions and Elections 141

The Missing Link: A Grand Revolutionary Coalition 146

Politics and Nonviolence 149

10. Constitution-Writing: LEJFARC's Universal Template 153

A Dull Exercise, LEJ(F)ARC ... 156

... Potentially 162

An Alternative View: The Civil Society (CS) Prism 165

Civil Society Vetting the Constitution 168

Civil Society Making the Constitution 169

Civil Society in the Constitution 172

11. Middle Eastern Constitutionalism 175

Sacred Legal Tradition: Of Islamic and Other Middle Eastern Laws 178

Real and Less Real Problems: The Article 2 Template 178

Acid Tests 179

When Scarf Turns into Veil 181

Beyond Acid 188

Aggiornamento: Style versus Substance in the Middle Eastern Legal Tradition 190

An Illustration: Freedom of Religion 195

The Middle East Challenge to World Constitutionalism 197

Constitutionalizing the Judiciary 198

Sects, Subordination, Federalism 203

Opening "New" Windows 206

12. Conclusion: Constitutionalism and Nonviolence 211

PART THREE | JUSTICE

13. Introduction: The Order of Reasons Restated 21714. “Dictatorship Is a Crime against Humanity” 221

Domestic Construction of Judicial Accountability: Reviving the Legacy of the French Revolution 224

From the Fog of “Law of the War Crime” to “Crimes against Humanity” 237

15. Middle Eastern Precedents and Universal Trends 245

Damascus and Beirut 1860 246

Iraq, False Starts from 1987 to 2003 255

Sabra and Shatila, Belgium 2001–2003 263

Baghdad 2005. The Trial of Saddam Hussein 268

Beirut 2004. Mu‘ammar al-Qaddafi Indicted 271

Beirut 2005, the Special Tribunal for Lebanon 276

Bashir and Qaddafi before the ICC 281

Conclusion: Crime against Humanity as Philosophical Category 283

16. The Pyramid of Accountability 289

Trials 289

About Procedure, Briefly, from the Victims’ Point of View 290

Who Should Try the Dictator? 291

The Voice of the Victims 295

Evidence 298

Other Mechanisms of Accountability: Reparations, Lustration, Reconciliation,
Constitutions... 304

Lustration Laws and Truth Commissions 307

Lustration 308

TRCs 310

Constitutions and Accountability 312

Conclusion: The Pyramid’s Uneven Allure 313

17. Justice and Nonviolence 315

Minor Philosophical, Major Political Problems 318

Becoming a Dictator 318

Golden Exits 319

On the Death Penalty 321

On “the Right to Kill a Dictator” 329

18. Coda: on Foreign Intervention and Nonviolence 333

Foreign Military Intervention as War 334

Foreign Military Action as Judicial Implementation 338

19. Epilogue: The 2011 Anima 343

BIBLIOGRAPHY 349

Table of Authorities for Works Cited 349

Court Cases 349

Legislation, Premodern 353

Legislation, Modern 354

United Nations 355

Other International Treaties and Instruments 355

Official National Reports 356

NGOs, Human Rights Organizations Reports, Databases 356

Books, Articles, and Book Chapters 357

Cultural References 379

INDEX 381