

Contents

|  |  |     |
|--|--|-----|
| Legislatures in Democratic Transition  | David M. Olson and Philip Norton          | 1   |
| Democratic Parliamentarism in Hungary:The First Parliament (1990–94) and the Entry of theSecond Parliament | Attila Ágh                                | 16  |
| The Legislature in Post-Communist Bulgaria   | Georgi Karasimeonov                       | 40  |
| Institutional Development of Poland's Post-Communist Sejm:A Comparative Analysis                               | Maurice D. Simon                          | 60  |
| The Legislature of the Czech Republic  | Janica Reschová andJindriská Syllová | 82  |
| The National Council of the Slovak Republic:Between Democratic Transition and NationalState-Building       | Darina Malova andDana Sivakova       | 108 |
| A Comparative Analysis of InstitutionalDevelopment in the Romanian and MoldovanLegislatures                | William Crowther and Steven D. Roper      | 133 |
| The Early Legislative Process in the RussianFederal Assembly   | Thomas Remington and Steven S. Smith      | 161 |
| Institutional Development of the Parliament of Estonia   | Peet Kask                                 | 193 |
| From Soviet to Parliament in Ukraine: The VerkhovnaRada during 1992–94   | Stanley Bach                              | 213 |
| Parliaments in Adolescence   | Philip Norton and David M. Olson          | 231 |
| Index  |  | 245 |