

Contents

Preface	and	Acknowledgements	ix
Notes on the Contributors			x
1	Introduction Christopher G.A. Bryant and Henk A. Becker		1
2	Achievement in the Analytical Tradition in Sociology Henk A. Becker		8
3	From Cognitive Style to Substantive Content: Programmatics and Pragmatics in the Development of Sociological Knowledge Robin Williams		31
4	The Sociological Study of History: Institutions and Social Development Stephen Mennell		54
5	Tales of Innocence and Experience: Developments in Sociological Theory since 1950 Christopher G. A. Bryant		69
6	Methodological Achievements in Sociology over the Past Few Decades with Special Reference to the Interplay of Quantitative and Qualitative Methods Peter Abell		94
7	Successful Applications of Sociology Martin Bulmer		117
8	Sociology in America Nicholas C. Mullins		143
9	Sociology in Britain: A Going Concern John Eldridge		157
10	What Has Sociology Achieved? The French Paradox Philippe Bernoux		179
11	Sociology in Germany: Institutional Development and Paradigmatic Structure Ansgar Weymann		204

12	What Dutch Sociology Has Achieved Leo Laeyendecker	221
13	Strategies for Future Development in Sociology Wil A. Arts and Henk A. Becker	238
14	Conclusions Henk A. Becker and Christopher G. A. Bryant	248
	Index	259