

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	11
1. PHOTOGRAPHS AS ETHNOGRAPHIC SOURCES	19
1.1 The Invention of Photography – 20
1.2 The Mechanical Reproduction of Reality – 20
1.3 The Visual is Becoming Suspect – 21
1.4 ‘Visual Anthropology’ and ‘Visual Science’ – 23
1.5 Reading Photographs – Writing Photographs – 24
2. A METHODOLOGICAL FRAMEWORK FOR THIS STUDY	27
2.1 The Historical Photographs in the Archives – 27
2.2 The Historical Photographs in the Field – 28
2.3 Taking Photographs as an Anthropologist Today – 32
2.4 Focussing on two Photographers – 33
2.5 Reading and Translating the Picture – 35
2.6 Using Fürer-Haimendorf and Other Sources to Understand Kauffmann – 36
2.7 Choosing the Photographs for this Book and their Form of Presentation – 37

3.	A HISTORY OF THE VISUAL REPRESENTATION OF THE NAGAS	39
3.1	A Brief Historical Account of the Naga Region, its Ethnography and its Images – 40
3.2	The Image of the Nagas during Colonial Times – 47
	19th Century: From Drawings to Photographs, the Early Sources – 47
	Early 20th Century: Anthropologists, Monographs and Object Collections – 64
	1930s to 1947: The Second World War and Indian Independence: Travellers and Ethnographers – 85
3.3	The Image of the Nagas in the Post-Colonial Period – 96
	1947 to 2000: The Period of Seclusion – 96
	The Era of the Gradual Opening in the New Millennium – 102
3.4	Timeline of Naga Recent History and Visual Representation (fold-out) – 106
4.	CHRISTOPH VON FÜRER-HAIMENDORF	111
4.1	Biographical Notes – 112
4.2	The Naga Expedition of 1936/37 – 116
4.3	Travels to Naga Areas in 1962 and 1970 – 130
4.4	The Fürer-Haimendorf Archive at SOAS – 137
4.5	The Naga Object Collection in Vienna – 143
4.6	Fürer-Haimendorf's Photography of the Naga – 145
5.	HANS-EBERHARD KAUFFMANN	163
5.1	Biographical Notes – 164
5.2	The "German Naga-Expedition" of 1936/37 – 173
5.3	The Kauffmann Collection – 199
5.4	The Naga Object Collections at Zurich, Basel, Cologne and Paris – 207
5.5	Kauffmann's Photography of the Naga – 210
6.	ANTHROPOLOGY AND THE THIRD REICH	225
6.1	National Socialist Völkerei? – 225
6.2	Fürer-Haimendorf's Position – 227
6.3	Kauffmann's Position – 229

7.1 'Hinterindien' and the Naga Hills – 237

'Hinterindien' – 237

The Naga Hills – 241

Geology and Climate – 243

Flora and Fauna – 245

Migration and Inhabitants – 247

7.2 The Naga Village and its Architecture – 249

The Village – 249

Sizes, Sites and Designations – 251

The Village Drum – 253

The House and its Interior – 255

House Decoration – 259

Granaries – 261

Land Ownership and Temporary Field Huts – 263

Defence – 265

The Village Gate – 267

7.3 Social Structures and Political Systems – 271

The 'Morung' – 271

Political Systems and Power Relations – 277

Gender Relations and Labour Division – 279

7.4 Status – 283

Social Standing – 283

Economic Wealth and Rice Baskets – 285

The Feast of Merit and Mithun House Gables – 287

Sitting Platforms – 289

Bamboo Poles and Rattles – 291

Y-Posts – 293

Series of Feasts – 295

From Sacrifice Aid to Status Symbol – 297

Stone Monoliths – 299

Accumulating Status – 301

Monoliths to Commemorate Headhunting Raids – 303

Stone Pulling and the Community – 307

Water Tanks – 309

7.5 Agriculture, Hunting and Trade – 311

Slash and Burn or 'jhum'-Cultivation – 311

Terraced Cultivation – 315

Rice and other Field Fruits – 317

The Agricultural Year – 319

Processing the Harvest – 321

Hunting and Fishing – 323

Domestic Animals – 327

Trade – 329

7.6 Oral Tradition and Religion – 331

Orality – 331

Songs and Music – 333

Dances at the ‘oulingbu’ – 335

Headhunting – 341

Animal Sacrifice and Divination Practices – 343

Tigermen, Ritual Specialists, and the Spirit World – 345

‘Sekrengi genna’ – 347

Notions of the Afterlife – 353

Death Rituals – 355

The Thread-Square Symbol – 359

Christianity – 361

7.7 Arts, Crafts, and Body Decoration – 363

House Building – 363

Woodcarving – 367

Metalwork – 375

Basketry – 377

Pottery – 379

Textile Techniques – 381

Dress and Ornaments – 387

Tattoos – 395

7.8 The Impact of Colonial Rule – 399

The ‘Inner Line’ – 399

Road Infrastructure – 401

Administrative Centres in the Hills – 403

Indirect Rule – 405

Foreigners in the Naga Hills – 407

The ‘Loss’ of Culture – 409

The Coming of Global Political Awareness – 411

8. CLOSING REMARKS 413

PICTURE CREDITS 419

REFERENCES 421

Sources related to Christoph von Fürer-Haimendorf (CFH) – 434

Sources related to Hans-Eberhard Kauffmann (HEK) – 437

Sources of the Swiss National Archive (BAR) – 445

CHRONOLOGICAL INDEX OF THE NAGA EXPEDITIONS IN 1936/37 446

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS 452