

Contents

| | |
|--|-----------|
| Series Foreword | x |
| Acknowledgements | xiii |
| Introduction | 1 |
| Organization of the Material | 1 |
| The Point of Social Theory | 4 |
| Key Themes | 5 |
| 1 Theorizing Technology | 8 |
| What is Technology? | 8 |
| What Does Technology Do? | 12 |
| How has Technology been Theorized? | 15 |
| Technology, Systems and Social Interests | 20 |
| Our Times: Technology, Complexity and Risk | 23 |
| Conclusion | 27 |
| Further Reading | 27 |
| 2 Marx, Modernity and the Machine | 29 |
| The Material Turn | 29 |
| Machine-Made Machines: Modern Industry | 31 |
| Machine-Made People: Modern Subjectivity | 34 |
| Marx and Technological Determinism | 37 |
| Extensions of Marx, I: Critical Theory and the Culture Industry | 39 |
| Extensions of Marx, II: David Noble, The Forces of Production | 43 |
| Conclusion | 47 |
| Further Reading | 48 |
| 3 Constructing the Modern: Human-Built World | 50 |
| Social Theory in the City | 51 |
| The Arcades Project | 53 |
| Benjamin on Flânerie and Technology | 54 |
| Foucault as Technological Thinker | 57 |

| | | |
|----------|---|------------|
| | The Eye of Technology | 57 |
| | Instrumental Change: Technological Innovation | 59 |
| | Discipline and Punish : The Technical Solution to a Technical Problem | 60 |
| | Foucault and the Mechanisms of Power: The Mediating Role of Techniques | 62 |
| | Foucault 2.0: Theoretical and Technological Upgrades | 64 |
| | Forget Foucault? | 65 |
| | Excursus: Making Order, I – Norbert Elias and the Politics of Buildings | 66 |
| | Conclusion | 68 |
| | Further Reading | 68 |
| 4 | The Politics of Artifacts | 70 |
| | Technology as Shadow Constitution | 71 |
| | Social Engineering: Moses Parts the Bronx and Builds Bridges | 74 |
| | Criticisms of Winner | 77 |
| | Technological Dramas | 80 |
| | Excursus: Making Order, II – The Politics of Space | 84 |
| | Conclusion | 88 |
| | Further Reading | 91 |
| 5 | The Social Construction of Technology | 92 |
| | Sociology Rediscovered Technology | 92 |
| | Contested Technology | 94 |
| | Fixing Meaning: Black Boxing the Bicycle | 97 |
| | Criticisms of SCOT | 99 |
| | Conclusion | 101 |
| | Further Reading | 102 |
| 6 | The Sociotechnical Construction of Society: Actor-Network Theory | 104 |
| | The Break with Social Construction | 104 |
| | Sociology: What is it Good For? | 108 |
| | The Sociology of Translation | 110 |
| | Dissident Agents | 112 |
| | Foucault/ANT | 116 |
| | Criticisms of ANT | 120 |
| | Conclusion | 123 |
| | Further Reading | 124 |

| | | |
|----------|---|------------|
| 7 | Left to Our Own Devices: Subjective Machines | 126 |
| | Sensing Change | 126 |
| | The Second Self: Personal Computers | 130 |
| | The Meanings of the Walkman: The Biography of a Cultural Artifact | 134 |
| | Connecting to Your Self: The Private World of the iPod | 140 |
| | From Our Space to My Space: The Privatization of Public Life | 143 |
| | Conclusion | 146 |
| | Further Reading | 149 |
| 8 | Objective Life: Things and Social Theory | 151 |
| | The Things of Social Life | 152 |
| | The Social Life of Things, I: Technological Lifecycles | 156 |
| | The Social Life of Things, II: Technological Lifecycles and Ontological Exchanges | 159 |
| | The Greening of Things: Never-ending Spirals | 162 |
| | Quasi-Objects: Posthumanism and Companion Species | 164 |
| | Conclusion | 169 |
| | Further Reading | 170 |
| | Conclusion: We Have Always Been Posthuman | 172 |
| | Bibliography | 177 |
| | Index | 196 |