

Written by renowned scholars and industry professionals, this Companion covers the key elements and methods, from nerdcore hip-hop to the role of rappers in the Obama campaign. With case studies from around the world, this collection reflects the passion and scholarly activity occurring in the new generation of hip-hop studies.

Contents

Justin A. Williams	Introduction: the interdisciplinary world of hip-hop studies
	PART I ELEMENTS
Alice Price-Styles	MC origins: rap and spoken word poetry
Imani Kai Johnson	Hip-hop dance
Ivor Miller	Hip-hop visual arts
Kjetil Falkenberg Hansen	DJs and turntablism
Travis L. Gosa	The fifth element: knowledge
Christina Zanfagna	Hip-hop and religion: from the mosque to the church
Nicole Hodges Persley	Hip-hop theater and performance
	PART II METHODS AND CONCEPTS
Oliver Kautny	Lyrics and flow in rap music
Kyle Adams	The musical analysis of hip-hop
Chris Tabron	The glass: hip-hop production
Anthony Kwame Harrison	Hip-hop and racial identification: an (auto)ethnographic perspective
Geoff Harkness	Thirty years of Rapsploitation: hip-hop culture in American cinema
Regina N. Bradley	Barbz and kings: explorations of gender and sexuality in hip-hop
Christopher Deis	Hip-hop and politics
Justin A. Williams	Intertextuality, sampling, and copyright
	PART III CASE STUDIES
Amanda Sewell	Nerdcore hip-hop
Adam Haupt	Framing gender, race, and hip-hop in Boyz n the Hood , Do the Right Thing , and Slam
Noriko Manabe	Japanese hip-hop: alternative stories
Richard Bramwell	Council estate of mind: the British rap tradition and London's hip-hop scene
Sujatha Fernandes	Cuban hip-hop
Ali Colleen Neff	Senegalese hip-hop
Mike D'Errico	Off the grid: instrumental hip-hop and experimentalism after the golden age
Brenna Reinhart Byrd	Stylized Turkish German as the resistance vernacular of German hip-hop
Loren Kajikawa	"Bringin' '88 Back": historicizing rap music's greatest year
Michael P. Jeffries	"Where ya at?" Hip-hop's political locations in the Obama era

