

Contents

Acknowledgements	7
List of Figures	13
Glossary and Abbreviations	15
Location of Field Sites	17
Introduction	19
Chapter I: Indonesia Through History	25
I.0 Introduction	25
I.1 The History of Indonesia	26
I.1.1 The Colonial Period	27
I.1.2 Post Independence	28
I.1.3 The New Order Period	29
I.1.4 The Reformation Era	30
I.2 The Regional History of Manado and Yogyakarta	31
I.2.1 Historical Overview of Manado or Minahasa	32
I.2.1.1 Minahasa and the Colonial Past	33
I.2.1.2 Between Nationalism and Regionalism	39
I.2.1.3 Post-Independence: Manado, Permesta and the United States	40
I.2.2 Historical Overview of Yogyakarta	42
I.2.2.1 Yogyakarta and the Colonial Past	43
I.2.2.2 Post-Independence: Granted a Special Status	45
I.3 Conclusion	47
Chapter II: Conceptual Frameworks	49
II.0 Introduction	49
II.1 Theories on Modernities	50
II.1.1 A Look at Classical Concepts on Modernity	50

II.1.2	Contemporary Theories on Modernity	53
II.1.2.1	Multiple Modernities	55
II.1.2.2	Alternative Modernities	55
II.1.2.3	Entangled Modernities	56
II.1.2.4	Trans-modernities	58
II.2	Theories on Center and Periphery	60
II.2.1	Basic Assumptions on the Concepts of Center and Periphery	60
II.2.2	Multiple Modernities and Centriphery Combined	65
II.3	Conclusion	67
Chapter III:	Approach and Methodology	69
III.0	Introduction	69
III.1	Home Anthropology: Challenges and Limitations	69
III.2	Multi-sited Ethnography	71
III.3	Tandem Design	72
III.4	Methods Used	77
III.4.1	Interviews	78
III.4.2	Ngobrol-ngobrol : Interviewing and Participant Observation Combined	79
III.5	Positionality and Personality: Foreigner, Insider and External Insider	83
III.6	Fieldwork in Yogyakarta: An Insider	85
III.7	Fieldwork in Manado: An External Insider	88
III.8	Yogyakarta and Manado Compared	91
III.9	Conclusion	92
Chapter IV:	The New Modernity in Manado: Imagining the Wests and the Global World	93
IV.0	Introduction	93
IV.1	Some Impressions of Contemporary Manado	93
IV.2	An Overview of the Discourse of Modernity in Manado	95

IV.3	Identification of 'Significant Others' in Manadonese Culture	96
IV.3.1	North American West	97
IV.3.2	Japan – In Comparison to Europe	103
IV.4	Diverse Meanings of Modernity	106
IV.4.1	Being Up-to-date	107
IV.4.2	Being Americanized	108
IV.4.2.1	Popular and Commercial Culture	108
IV.4.2.2	Doing Christianity, Doing Modernity	110
IV.5	Circumstances of Being Modern and the Meanings of Being Orang Manado	116
IV.5.1	Social Celebrations	116
IV. 5.2	Competitive Spirit: Biar kalah nasi asal jangan kalah aksi	121
IV.6	Western-centrism: the Self, the “Background” and the “Foreground”	125
IV.7	Conclusion	128
Chapter V: The Experiences of Multiple Modernities and Traditions in Yogyakarta		131
V.0	Introduction	131
V.1	Islamic Modernity	131
V.2	Asian Popular Culture in Relation to Multiple Modernities	136
V.3	Getting in Touch with Traditions	143
V.3.1	Sociocultural Aspects	143
V.3.2	Political Aspects: Yogyakartaans and Democracy Revisited	147
V.4	Western Modernity	156
V.4.1	Technology	156
V.4.2	Western Education System: Oral vs. Written	161
V.4.3	Beyond the East-West Dichotomy	164
V.5	Conclusion	166

Chapter VI: Ideas on Centers and Peripheries	167
VI.0 Introduction	167
VI.1 Internal Dimensions of Centers and Peripheries	167
VI.1.1 Permesta, Local Autonomy and Decentralization; Internal and External Combined	168
VI.1.2 Alternative Centers	172
VI.1.3 Religious Centers: Between Rome and North America	173
VI.2 External Dimensions of Centers and Peripheries	175
VI.2.1 Occidentalism: the Wests as Less Dominant Centers	175
VI.2.2 Views of Asia	181
VI.2.3 Centers of Entertainment Industry: the US vs. the Korean Wave	181
VI.2.4 China: the Contemporary Global Economic Engine	182
VI.2.5 India and Ideas on Multi-dimensional Flows of Knowledge	186
VI.3 Conclusion	191
Chapter VII: Conclusion	195
VII.0 Summary	195
VII.1 Perceptions on Centriphery is the Operational Influence of Perceptions on Modernities	197
VII.2 Modernity is qualitative	201
Bibliography	207