

Contents

Preface: Full Fathom Five	xi
Introduction: Indigenous Critical Theory and the Diminishing Returns of Civilization	xv
1. Is and Was: Poststructural Indians without Ancestry	1
2. “This Island’s Mine”: The Parallax Logics of Caliban’s Cacophony	39
3. The Masks of Conquest: Wilson Harris’s Jonestown and the Thresholds of Grievability	77
4. “Been to the Nation, Lord, but I Couldn’t Stay There”: Cherokee Freedmen, Internal Colonialism, and the Racialization of Citizenship	117
5. Satisfied with Stones: Native Hawaiian Government Reorganization and the Discourses of Resistance	147
6. Killing States: Removals, Other Americans, and the “Pale Promise of Democracy”	185
Conclusion: Zombie Imperialism	221
Acknowledgments	231
Notes	235
Index	271