

Contents

List of figures	x
List of tables	xi
Preface and acknowledgements	xii
Abbreviations	xv
1 Introduction: rethinking Sikh nationalism in a global age	1
Ethno-symbolist approaches	2
Instrumentalist approaches	4
Constructivist approaches	6
Long-distance nationalism	8
Globalization, sovereignty and national identity	9
Rethinking Sikh nationalism	11
The structure of the book	14
2 From panth to qaum: the construction of a Sikh 'national' identity in colonial India	17
The Sikh panth: from Nanak-panth to Khalsa panth	21
The mythology and symbolism of the Khalsa	24
'Singh-izing the Sikhs': the Tat Khalsa discourse and the colonial state	26
The institutionalization of a 'Sikh' identity: from the CKD to the SGPC	35
Conclusion	39
3 The territorialization of the qaum: Sikh 'national' identity in independent India	40
The Nehruvian secular settlement	41
The Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) and the movement for the Punjabi Suba	43

The 'violence' of the Green Revolution and Sikh 'kulak' nationalism 48

Imagining Khalistan 51

The 'communalization' of the Punjab and state terrorism 53

The militarization of the qaum 56

Conclusion 58

4 From Khalistan to Punjabiaf. globalization, Hindutva and the decline of Sikh militancy 61

Economic liberalization in India 62

Rebranding India: the challenge of Hindu nationalism 66

Globalization, regionalism and the 'new democratic alignment': an analysis of the 2004 elections 71

Globalization, the SAD-BJP alliance and the reassertion of Punjabi identity in post-Blue Star Punjab 73

Conclusion 77

5 'The territorialization of memory': Sikh nationalism in the 'diaspora' 79

A Sikh diaspora? 80

The Sikh nationalist discourse in the diaspora 82

Partition 86

'Operation Blue Star' 94

Conclusion 98

6 The politics of recognition: from a Sikh 'national' to a Sikh 'diasporic' identity in a post-9/11 world? 100

Location and identity: the dynamics of Sikh diaspora nationalism 102

Britain: from 'nation-state' to 'community of communities'? 105

Who are we? Khalistan, 9111 and Sikh-American identity 114

Conclusion 125

7 Beyond Khalistan'! The Sikh diaspora, globalization and international relations 128

The Westphalian order and IR theory 129

'A revolt against the West': the global religious resurgence 132

Beyond Westphalia? Globalization, transnational religious communities and international relations 133

Serving the qaum: Sikh transnational religious actors 137

Beyond Khalistan? Voices from the diaspora 142

Concluding remarks 149

Conclusion 152

Appendix; full questionnaire results (India) 157

Notes 161

Bibliography 173

Index 195