

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	vii
List of Contributors	ix
List of Figures	xv
Preface and Introduction: Re-imagining South Asian Religions	xvii
Pashaura Singh and Michael Hawley

PART I

REFLECTIONS ON THE FIELD

Traditional Sanskrit and Modern Scholarship: A Personal Journey	3
Harold G. Coward
A Modest Retrospective	15
Ronald W. Neufeldt

PART II

NEW ORIENTATIONS, GLOBALIZATION, AND PEDAGOGY

Re-imagining Sikhi ('Sikhness') in the Twenty-First Century: Toward a Paradigm Shift in Sikh Studies	27
Pashaura Singh
The Politics of Perspectivalism: Anekāntavāda as a Counter- anthropologising Strategy	49
Tinu Ruparell
Rewriting the Hindu Traditions from Global Perspectives	67
Vasudha Narayanan
Pedagogy in the Janam-sakhis : 'Teaching Texts' Moving Past Old Categories	89
Toby Braden Johnson

PART III

PERFORMANCE AND MEMORY

Re-imagining Religious History through Women's Song Performance at the Kāmākhyā Temple Site 115
Patricia A. Dold

Tibetan Buddhist Monastic Performance: Ritual Practice and Cultural Preservation in the Tibetan Diaspora 155
Sarah F. Haynes

'Performance' and 'Lived Religion' Approaches as New Ways of
'Re-imagining' Sikh Studies 171
Charles M. Townsend

PART IV

HISTORY, ENCOUNTER, AND EXCHANGE

Re-imagining Theosophy through Canadian Art: Indian Theosophical Influences on the Painting and Writing of Lawren Harris 195
Michael Stoeber

Re-imagining Hindu Beginnings in Canada 221
Paul Younger

The Indianness of Christianity: The Task of Re-imagination 245
Dyron B. Daughrity

M. K. Gandhi and the Sikhs: Violence, Religious Identity, and Competing Modernities 271
Michael Hawley

Index 293