

Contents

| | |
|---|----|
| Introduction | 1 |
| I. Preparing for the Lord's Work: Background, Upbringing, and Educational Environment | 17 |
| a) Einbeck and Zauchtenthal | 17 |
| b) Heinrich Melchior Mühlenberg's early life, 1711–1742 | 20 |
| c) Zauchtenthal, Herrnhut, Ysselstein: The world that shaped David Zeisberger, 1721–1740 | 31 |
| d) Two pastors from Halle discover Pennsylvania in the early 1740s | 43 |
| e) The strangeness of Pennsylvania for Mühlenberg, Brunnholtz, and Zeisberger. | 50 |
| f) Strained relationships in the Old World: Halle and Herrnhut | 54 |
| g) Strained relationships in the New World: Ecumenical concepts tried and rejected, 1742 | 59 |
| II. Halle's and Herrnhut's Meanings and Realities of „Mission“. | 67 |
| a) Meanings | 67 |
| b) The Reality of „Mission work“ for Heinrich Melchior Mühlenberg | 73 |
| c) Heinrich Melchior Mühlenberg, the pastor as missionary | 76 |
| d) The Moravian concept of a missionary: Zinzendorf, David Zeisberger, and the American scene | 86 |
| e) „Order“ in a chaotic New World: The Halle paradox | 92 |
| f) „Order“ in a chaotic New World: The Moravian paradox | 98 |

| | |
|--|-----|
| III. Pastoral and Mission Realities | 113 |
| a) Some months in the life of Heinrich Melchior Mühlenberg, November 1765–April 1766. | 114 |
| b) Organizing a Moravian Mission: Checomeco, 1742–1745. | 118 |
| c) The Renewed Unitas Fratrum in the Atlantic world and the emergence of two communication networks, 1760–1765 | 132 |
| d) David Zeisberger founds Wyalusing (alias Wihilusing) and faces new imperial challenges, 1765–1768 | 138 |
| IV. Drawing and Transgressing Religious Boundaries | 149 |
| a) „Faith“ as a social marker for Halle Pietists | 149 |
| b) The meaning of „Conversion“ and „Faith“ for Native Americans | 161 |
| c) „Conversion“ in Lutheran and Moravian thought | 183 |
| V. Revolutionary Troubles: Pietisms on Trial in Pennsylvania’s Towns, Villages, and Woodlands | 189 |
| a) The unfinished edifice of the Lutheran Church in the revolutionary period. | 190 |
| b) The Renewed Unitas Fratrum in the American Revolution | 203 |
| c) David Zeisberger and the Mission congregations in the American Revolution. | 215 |
| VI. „And their Missions impossible“ Lutherans, Moravians, and their Mission congregations, 1742 – 1782. Conclusions | 235 |
| a) Revolutionary experiences. | 235 |
| b) „And their Missions impossible“ The fate of Pietism in the New World: Halle Pietism | 239 |
| c) „And their Missions impossible“ The fate of Pietism in the New World: Moravian Pietism | 242 |
| Acknowledgements | 249 |
| Archives | 251 |
| Unpublished works | 251 |
| Books published before 1800 | 251 |
| Books and Articles published after 1800 | 256 |
| List of maps and illustrations with abbreviated titles | 279 |