

NOAM CHOMSKY

LANGUAGE AND POLITICS

EDITED BY C.P. OTERO

BLACK
ROSE
BOOKS

Montreal - New York

Contents

	Page
List of abbreviations.....	14
Editor's Preliminary Note.....	17
Introduction: The third emancipatory phase of history by Carlos P. Otero	22
Justice vs power
Enlightenment vs inquisitionalism
Responsibility vs respectability
Innatism vs environmentalism
Anarchism vs elitism
Coda

Interviews

1.	The intellectual as prophet (11 Apr 1968) Vietnam and after Differences between fields The relation of logic and mathematics to linguistics A dim or hopeful future?	84
2.	A Cartesian view of language structure (May 1968) Learning as an input-output relation The abstract character of the structures The disparity between data and knowledge Common properties by biological necessity Unconscious knowledge Faculties of the mind Limitations of common sense knowledge	100
3.	The creative experience (Winter 1969) Two sources of interest From Freud to Köhler and Lashley Explanation in linguistics Concern about social issues	116
4.	Linguistics and politics (Spring 1969) The effectiveness of anti-war actions Conditions for revolutionary change Linguistics and a marxist-anarchist perspective Romantic aesthetics and modern mathematics	132
5.	Language and behaviorist psychology (Nov 1972) Variety: Sources of happiness Uniformity in language structures Questions in English Structure-dependent operations	150

		Page
	Synthesis of languages
	"New economics": What it means
	Behaviorist psychology
	International authority
	Opposition to leadership
6.	The universities and the corporations (May 1973)	158
7.	Class consciousness and the ideology of power (6 Jan 1974)	166
	Anarchism and class analysis
	Marxism and Leninism
	The state and the corporate system
	Marx vs Skinner
8.	Materialism in linguistics and the morality criterion (28 Mar 1977)	198
	A perplexing mystery
	The ideological fields vs the natural sciences
	The test of a moralist's sincerity
	Free enterprise or fascist enterprise?
	Sanitized history
	An analogy for protesters
	The moral level of an action
	The American bloodbath
	Will vs knowledge
	Intellectuals as the new class
	The pathetic fallacy
9.	Oil imperialism and the U.S.-Israel relationship (March 1977)	212
	A shift from the policy of the mid-50s
	Support for a two-state political settlement
	An extremely hazardous game
	A possibility of affecting government policy
10.	Language theory and the theory of justice (13 Oct 1977)	232
	Realism: Plato's question
	Modularity: A system of mental organs
	The growth of a mental organ of moral evaluation
	A Galilean revolution in linguistics?
	The creativity of language and freedom of the will Departments of Oppression and Death
	The difference between student and faculty attitudes
11.	Language and the human mind (29 Sep 1978)	252
	Ontogenic development: From embryo to adult
	The environment and the mind: Errors that children never make

		Page
	The emergence and development of generative grammar
	Learnability and language teaching
12.	On human rights and ideology (Oct 1979)	276
13.	An American view of the ideological confrontation of our time (3 Feb 1980)	284
	Authentic socialism vs Leninism
	The "game" being played by the superpowers
	Support for huge atrocities
	An academic counterpart to "The deerhunter"
	The real fear
	The illusion of free and open debate
	Will human civilization survive until the 21st century?
14.	U.S. defense responsibility? (8 Apr 1981)	298
	Supplement:
	Corporate social responsibility? (Spring 1978)
15.	Human rights and American foreign policy (21 Sep 1981)	302
	Most people are not gangsters
	A system of disguising reality
	"Authoritarian" vs "totalitarian"
	Categories without policy implications
	Carter's rhetoric had its value
16.	The treachery of the intelligentsia: A French travesty (16 Oct 1981)	308
	Brainwashing under freedom
	The task for the present
	Contrasting views of 1968
	Sheer fabrication
	More widely read than in the 60s
	Defense of "bourgeois freedoms"
	A barrage of lies
	A sad day for France
	Freedom to express horrendous views
	Evaluation of the Nazi genocide
	Fascist-style institutions
	The moral significance of one's work and actions
	A deliberate effacement of the record
	Revealing efforts to disguise the facts
	The factor of primary concern
	"Selective outrage" deconstructed
	A struggle without end
17.	The Intelligence Identities Protection Act (Jan 1982)	324

		Page
	The subservience of the ideological system
	A clear and explicit threat to free expression
	The "brazilianization" of American society
18.	The barbarism of non-communist monsters (Spring 1982)	332
	Needs and wants
	Too central a truth
	No possibility of successful development
	American terrorism against Cuba
	The actual American impact upon the world
19.	The lessons of the Vietnam war (Oct 1982)	338
20.	The disarmament debate: New directions (15 Dec 1982)	346
21.	America in the world (1 Feb 1983)	354
22.	Priorities for the peace movement (4 Jun 1983)	360
	Differences with the European disarmament movement
	Movements activity in the 1970s
	A dismal record of reaching the public
	Electoral tactics and popular support
	Confrontation in the Middle East
23.	Politics and science (16 Jun 1983)	368
	i. Politics
	A form of idiocy found in intellectual circles
	Reasons for devoting political action to foreign policy
	The forms of service of the "secular priesthood"
	Assistance in "intellectual self-defense"
	The power of the corporate system
	The technique of feigned dissent
	A truly revolutionary challenge
	The usefulness of a "Great Satan"
	ii. Science/Linguistics
	A radically different conception of grammar
	The search for experimental correlates
	"Marxists" who understand little about science or Marx
	The contrast with Piaget
	Generative grammar and psychoanalysis
	Generative grammar and Bakunin's "instinct for freedom"
	Moral barriers to control and domination
24.	The manufacture of consent (Summer 1983)	388
	Discovering what is hidden
	The plague of European civilization
	An unending task
	Subversive schooling

		Page
	A fundamental human need
	Anarchism vs "Marxism"
25.	Language as a key to human nature and society (24 Sept 1983)	398
	Is anything really learned?
	Thought without language
	Language without communication
	A model for human studies
	Limited scientific capacity
	A condition of temporary ignorance?
26.	Things no amount of learning can teach (Nov 1983)	406
	A close parallel to embryology
	Piaget vs Skinner
	The riddle of free will
	The new work in art and science
	One major scientific revolution
27.	American Middle East policy (18 Oct 1984)	420
28.	The media as a mirror of society—but not quite in the usual sense (21 Oct 1984)	436
	A racist assumption
	Something deeper
	Attempt at inducement as fact
29.	Tactics and strategies for the peace movement (Nov 1984)	442
	Stemming the flood at its source
	An umbrella for intervention and aggression
	The truth about the Soviet system
	A catalyst to mass popular action
	No magic answers
30.	Aspects of a theory of mind (Late 1984)	450
	Advances in the psychology of language
	Innate ideas, universal grammar, and core grammar
	The role of "parameters" in language acquisition
	A general theory of learning?
	Human intelligence and psychology as science
	The instinctual basis of morality
31.	Alternatives to the Cold War (5 Oct 1985)	470
32.	The question for Canadians—and not only Canadians (Nov 1985)	476
	One crucial issue: National self-determination
	The major danger of nuclear war
	Using resources for domestic purposes
	A weakened American position
	The largest per capita military exporter in the world
	The meaninglessness of arms negotiations

	The military system as a system of industrial management
	A way to predict when the Russians aren't quite as evil
33.	The first prime time bombing in history (Late April 1986)	488
34.	A really new way of looking at language (Nov 1987)	496
	The creative use of language
	The irrelevance of behaviorist doctrine
	Mental computations
	The most complex and intricate biological system
	A very radical departure from the tradition
	The environment and human development
	What language should be taught in the schools?
35.	The only country officially committed to terrorism (30 Mar 1988)	506
36.	A candid view of Israel and the occupied territories (May 1988)	512
	A significant peace movement
	Peace Now and the PLO compared Propaganda as explanation
	Racism, oppression, ignorance
	Extremely determined resisters
	Political agreement as a temporary expedient
	A real double standard
	Supplement:
	Harmful pressure for Israel (6 Mar 1981)
37.	No stone left unturned (23 May 1988)	532
	A drift towards a New Deal-style social democracy
	Hidden truths
	The significance of the Jackson campaign
	A serious blow to the American economy
38.	The plague of the modern age (25 May 1988)	542
	Official terrorism and its varieties
	A remarkable example of servility to power
	Actions reminiscent of those of totalitarian states
	Shared responsibility
	The culture of terrorism
	The sin of "ultranationalism"
	Many means of criminal action
	Unacceptable conclusions
	In service of the fifth freedom
	The reasons for the propaganda campaign

II

The Reime interviews

	Page
39. Ideological reconstruction after Vietnam (7 Jun 1979)	556
A trilateralism subject to qualification
Sympathetic solidarity vs apathy and passivity
Extremely ugly policies
The most awesome propaganda system in world history
A very revealing issue
The true aim of a social revolution
Bakunin's "instinct for freedom"
A rich innate endowment shared across the species
40. What's new in Reagan's program? (13 Nov 1983)	568
A replay of the Kennedy administration
A difference in American power
The lesson of Keynesianism
The real threat: a truly independent Europe
Control over Europe and Japan
A commitment to an Israeli Sparta
In accord about a PLO of the Arafat-type
Incorporation in the US-dominated system
41. Knowledge of language, human nature, and the role of intellectuals (2 Nov 1984)	586
Language as a computational system
Mental representations
A surprising finding about the human brain
The meaning of "language"
The structure determined by the grammar
Humanly interesting or intellectually interesting?
The new approach of the 1980s
A progressive world view
Leninism, fascism and liberalism
Social implications of the two views of human nature
The social role of the intelligentsia
The most free and indoctrinated society
The American system as a one-party system
Immigration and depoliticization
42. A historic shift in American politics (16 Mar 1988)	604
The Reagan program as quasi-fascism
The business party and its factions
Jackson's revival of populism

III

The Barsamian interviews

		Page
43.	Politics and language (1 Dec 1984) A fundamental aspect of human intelligence Abuse of language Means of intellectual self-defence The conquest of the Western Hemisphere Comparable genocidal acts Pro-Communist and pro-Israel intellectuals	610
44.	Israel: The strategic asset (Mar 1985) A kind of an attack dog More support than the Zionist organization had The real enemies of Israel	632
45.	The right turn in US policy (22 Oct 1986) Scale of protest for significant changes The CIA in Central American and the rest of the world The political economy of the media Conservatism, liberalism, social democracy Gorbachev's incredible series of offers A disease of the intelligentsia	648
46.	Political discourse and the propaganda system (24 Oct 1986) Undermining the possibility of independent thought Retail and wholesale terrorism Institutions for indoctrination Experts in legitimization The utter servility of the media A very sharp decline since the Middle Ages The merciless European savages The sense of the left Two national groups that claim self-determination Racist attitudes toward the Third World The Holocaust as a justification for oppression Changes in anti-Semitism	662
47.	Techniques of marginalization (24 Jan 1988) A very conservative critique The "crisis of democracy" and the "right turn" The effect of domestic dissidence The media coverage of the Indochina war McCarthy's bid for political power A profile of the non-voters A convenient device to induce fear	698

	Gorbachev's policies
	"National security" decoded
	A familiar psychological mechanism
	Short-term planning only
	Anywhere outside the U.S
	Are international affairs harder than sports?
	Misunderstood scandals
	An outright political assassination
48.	The cognitive revolution, I (26 Jan 1988)	722
	Philosophy and science
	Newspeak and the public relations industry
	"Behavior problems" or independence of mind?
	The destruction of the anti-fascist resistance
	The "greatest moral act in history"
	Carter's Marshall Plan for Nicaragua
	A government driven underground by its own population
	A potential mass base for a fascist movement
	Another view of the world
49.	The cognitive revolution, II (28 Jan 1988)	744
	A transitory historical phase
	A general tendency to conform
	Moral monsters
	The anti-apartheid movement
	Science and philosophy
	Descartes' logic
	An instinct for freedom
	An evolutionary error
	A kind of social pathology
	Molecular biology and neural structures
50.	Helping people persuade themselves (15 Feb 1988)	760
	Elites and their power
	The domestic population as a potential enemy
	The unnaturalness of the state system
	The fascist attack on the ideals of the Enlightenment
	The threat of religious fanaticism
	Moral dilemmas
	Far beyond McCarthy
	A matter of institutions, not individuals
	A child of the Enlightenment	