

Contents

List of Contributors	xv
Part I. Introduction	1
1 The social psychological study of widespread beliefs	3
George Gaskell and Colin Fraser
The aim of the book	3
Attitudes and social representations: some recent developments	5
On the nature of the 'social'	9
Methodological and conceptual pluralism	13
The structure and contents of the book	17
References	22
2 The epidemiology of beliefs	25
Dan Sperber
Anthropological speculations	25
Psychological speculations	31
Different types of beliefs, different mechanisms of distributions	37
References	42
Part II. Theoretical perspectives	45
3 Social representations as widespread beliefs	47
Rob Farr
Introduction	47
Social representations and the nature of public opinion	48
Social representations and attitudes	54
Culture and cognition	55
Social representations and the sociology of knowledge	60
References	62
4 Attitudes, social attitudes, and widespread beliefs	65
Douglas W. Bethlehem
Widespread beliefs	65
Myth

Norms
Social representation
Stereotype
Reductionism?	68
Attitudes	69
The genesis of attitudes	71
Constitutional and physiological factors
Conditioning and learning
Consistency
Self-attribution
Attitudes and widespread beliefs	73
Conclusion	75
References	76
5 The dynamics of public opinion	79
Hilde T. Himmelweit
Public opinion and social process	79
Dynamics of public opinion	84
The proportion of undecided or don't knows
The degree of polarization or consensus in the public's response
The degree as distinct from the prevalence of polarization
The salience of an issue as indicated by the respondents
The climate of opinion concerning the appropriateness of expressing particular views
The structure of the belief system
The relevance of an issue or attitude for the decisions to be made
Influences on public opinion	87
The culture, tradition, and norms of a society
Socializing experiences
Changes in the management of the country or its institutions
Political and economic events
The demand characteristics of the issue
The presentation and interpretation of events
Feedback effects on the public
Susceptibility to change	91
Theoretical and research implications	93
The relation of public opinion to behaviour
The analysis of group identity and group cohesion
The need for functional rather than textual equivalence
The study of mediated reality
The need for a multi-method approach
Conclusion	96
References	96

6	Attitudes, social representations, and ideology	99
	Elinor Scarbrough
	Introduction	99
	Attitudes and political behaviour	100
	Ideology and political attitudes	102
	Social representations: process and image	106
	Ideologies and social representations	110
	Conjectures and problems	113
	References	115
	 Part III. Studies of widespread beliefs	 119
7	Social categorization, collective beliefs, and causal attribution	121
	Jos Jaspars and Miles Hewstone
	Introduction	121
	Social categorization and attribution	123
	Intergroup attribution	126
	Schema-based attribution	127
	Social knowledge and attribution	129
	Collective beliefs and social explanations	130
	What are attributions?
	When do people make attributions?
	How do people make attributions?
	Why do people make attributions?
	Where do attributions come from?
	Conclusion	137
	References	137
8	Social beliefs and intergroup relations: the relevance of some sociological perspectives	142
	Willem Doise
	Levels of explanation and theoretical pluralism	142
	Universals and particulars	143
	Sociological perspectives	146
	Research in social psychology	152
	Conclusion	156
	References	157

9	The political and social beliefs of adolescents	160
	Raymond Cochrane and Michael Billig
	Introduction	160
	Background to our studies	163
	The studies	166
	A rhetorical analysis of political beliefs	173
	References	176
10	The social dimension in relative deprivation	179
	Patten Smith and George Gaskell
	Introduction	179
	Egoistic and fraternalistic relative deprivation	180
	An empirical comparison of egoistic and fraternalistic approaches to relative deprivation	183
	Relative deprivation
	Social attitudes
	Orientation to militancy
	Individualistic and social explanations	186
	References	189
11	Shared economic beliefs	192
	Alan Lewis
	Introduction	192
	Survey data: some gross commonalities	192
	Perceived fairness: costs, prices, and profit
	Perceived fairness: income and wealth
	The public sector
	Inflation and unemployment
	Economic problems: causes and cures
	Some gross differences and sectional commonalities	199
	Countries
	Sectional interests
	Explaining sectional differences and similarities	201
	Ideology
	Self-interest
	Contradictions and confusions
	Conclusions	206
	References	207

12 Social beliefs about gender differences	210
Glynis M. Breakwell
The nature of social beliefs	210
The concept of gender differences	211
Social beliefs about the differences between men and women	211
Social beliefs about psychological differences between the sexes
The role of the 'expert' in creating social beliefs about psychological differences between men and women
Social beliefs about sex roles
Heterogeneity in social beliefs about sex roles
Social beliefs and identity	220
Androgyny
Instrumental self-definition
Conclusion	222
References	223
Subject index	227