

Generals in the Palacio

The Military in Modern Mexico

RODERIC AI CAMP

New York Oxford
OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS
1992

Contents

TABLES, xi

EXHIBITS, xiii

1. The Officer Corps: Theory and Context, 3
 - Researching the Military in Mexico, 3
 - The Focus, 4
 - Some Working Hypotheses: The Theoretical Context, 6
2. The Historical Context, 15
 - Postrevolutionary Era of Military Leadership, 17
 - Civilian Adjustments to the Military Heritage, 24
 - 1968, Where Did it Lead?, 27
3. A Mirror Image: Professionalism and Values, 39
 - Professionalism, 39
 - Officer Values, 42
 - Attitudes toward Political Involvement, 47
 - Civilian Views of the Military, 49
 - Military Prestige in Civilian Eyes, 50
 - Citizen Views of Military Intervention, 53
 - Corrupting Influences, 58
4. Military-Civilian Interlocks, 66
 - Political Officeholding, 66
 - Other Civilian-Military Linkages, 73
 - Social and Kinship Ties, 75
 - Party and Electoral Activity, 78
 - Civic Action and Disaster Relief, 84
 - The National Security Role, 86

5. Officer Origins, 100

Political-Military Officer, 101

Regionalism and Class, 107

Mustangs, 109

Regular Career (Orthodox Professional) Officers, 113

6. Education and Command, 133

Evolution of Formal Education in the Military, 133

Teaching in the Military, 138

Héroico Colegio Militar, 141

Escuela Superior de Guerra, 154

Colegio de Defensa Nacional, 162

Training Abroad, 165

7. Making It to General, 176

Presidential Promotion Policies, 177

Variables in Promotion, 188

The Cream of the Officer Corps, 199

Zone Commanders, 202

8. What Kind of Relationship?, 212Appendixes

A. Graduates of the Héroico Colegio Militar and the Colegio del Aire in the Mexican Military Biography Project, 237

B. Graduates of the Escuela Superior de Guerra in the Mexican Military Biography Project, 244

C. Mexican Zone Commanders, 249

A NOTE ON COLLECTIVE BIOGRAPHICAL DATA, 261

BIBLIOGRAPHIC ESSAY, 263

INDEX, 271