

Contents

---

Acknowledgments	vii
1. Introduction: When Feminisms Intersect Epistemology Linda Alcoff and Elizabeth Potter	1
2. Taking Subjectivity into Account Lorraine Code	15
3. Rethinking Standpoint Epistemology: "What Is Strong Objectivity"? Sandra Harding	49
4. Marginality and Epistemic Privilege Bat-Ami Bar On	83
5. Subjects, Power and Knowledge: Description and Prescription in Feminist Philosophies of Science Helen Longino	101
6. Epistemological Communities Lynn Hankinson Nelson	121
7. Gender and Epistemic Negotiation Elizabeth Potter	161
8. Bodies and Knowledges: Feminism and the Crisis of Reason Elizabeth Grosz	187
9. Are "Old Wives' Tales" Justified? Vrinda Dalmiya and Linda Alcoff	217

10. Feminism and Objective Interests: The Role of Transformation Experiences in Rational Deliberation Susan Babbitt	245
11. Knower/Doers and Their Moral Problems Kathryn Pyne Addelson	265
Bibliography of Feminist Epistemologies	295
Index	301