

Professions and the public interest

Medical power, altruism and alternative medicine

Mike Saks

London and New York

Contents

Acknowledgements	vi
Abbreviations	vii
Introduction	1

Part I Sociology, professions and the public interest: a research framework

1 The sociology of professions and the professional altruism ideal: a critical review	11
2 The development of a viable conception of the public interest	35
3 The role of professions: power, interests and causality	71

Part II An empirical application: the response of the medical profession to acupuncture in Britain

4 Alternative medicine: the case of acupuncture	103
5 Potential explanations for the rejection of acupuncture in Britain	140
6 Acupuncture and British medicine: the influence of professional power and interests	185
7 The medical reception of acupuncture in Britain: professional ideologies and the public interest	229
Conclusion	260
Appendices	268
Bibliography	272
Author index	300
Subject index	308