

Aleksandr Nikolaevich Engelgardt's

*LETTERS FROM THE COUNTRY,
1872–1887*

Translated and edited by
CATHY A. FRIERSON

New York Oxford
OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS
1993

Contents

Glossary, xv

Introduction, 3

Letter I, 21

Daily Life with the Peasants on My Estate, 22

Village Poverty and Charity: Crusts of Bread, 28

My Natural Healer: The “Old Woman,” 32

Village Justice, 34

Letter II, 36

The Peasants’ Poverty and Dependence on Local Gentry Landowners, 37

The Peasant Thief Kostik and the Volost Court, 39

The Question of Public Health in the Countryside, 45

The Rural Clergy, 47

My Trip to the Zemstvo Elections, 48

Letter III, 51

Work Done “Out of Respect,” 52

Trespassing and the Peasants’ Sense of Private Property, 59

Peasant Fatalism and Attitudes toward Agricultural Innovation, 64

The Subsistence Nature of Russian Agriculture, 72

Letter IV, 79

“Rogues Exist to Teach Fools to Be on Guard,” 80

Honesty and Industry of the Russian Peasant, 83

- Individualism in Peasant Farming, 86
A Visit to the Local Agricultural Exhibition, 87

Letter V, 102

- Old Lyska, 103
The Role of Peasant Women in the Rural Economy, 112
Peasant Individualism in Labor, 115
Peasants as Skilled Laborers, 122
Intelligence of the Russian Peasant, 125

Letter VI, 134

- Rural Responses to the Russo-Turkish War, 135

Letter VII, 156

- The Diggers' Artel as a Model of Collective Labor, 157
Extended Peasant Households, Collective Labor, and Prosperity, 163
Individualism of the Peasant Woman, 166
The Futility of Legislation for the Village, 169
The Peasant Economy in Post-Emancipation Russia, 170

Letter VIII, 184

- New District Officials, 185
Persecution of Local Jews, 193
Bureaucratic Measures to Prevent Plague, 195
My Descent into Alcoholism, 198

Letter IX, 203

- The Economics of Seasonal Labor for the Peasant, 204

Letter X, 210

- Prospering Peasants in the "Happy Little Corner," 211
The Peasant Exploiter: The Kulak, 223

Letter XI, 228

Peasants' Rumors about the Land, 228

Letter XII, 239

Peasant Land Purchases and Local Farming, 239

The Promise of Phosphorite Fertilizer for Russian Agriculture, 245

Notes, 256

Bibliography of Related Works, 269