

Contents

List of illustrations	xiii
Contributors	xiv
Introduction	1
1 Introduction: forcing issues SALLIE YEA AND PATTANA KITIARSA	3
PART I
Anti-trafficking reconsidered	17
2 The good, the bad and the ugly: in the name of victim protection ANDERS LISBORG	19
3 Trafficking versus smuggling: Malaysia's Anti-Trafficking in Persons Act LENORE LYONS AND MICHELE FORD	35
4 Victims of human trafficking or perpetrators of fraudulent marriage? Foreign spouses engaging in the sex industry in Taiwan HSUN-HUI TSENG	49
5 Globalising rehabilitative regimes: framing the moral economy of vocational training in after-trafficking work ELENA SHIH	64

PART II
Methodological issues in researching human trafficking	79
6 Virgin territory re-explored: ethnographic insight, public policy and the trade in minority women in Southeast Asia	81
DAVID FEINGOLD
7 In search of the perfect method: reflections on knowing, seeing, measuring and estimating human trafficking	101
SVERRE MOLLAND
8 Another side of the story: challenges in research with unidentified and unassisted trafficking victims	118
REBECCA SURTEES
PART III
Complicating human trafficking	139
9 Trafficking at sea: the situation of enslaved fishermen in Southeast Asia	141
SOPHIE NONNENMACHER
10 People smuggling in Indonesia: dependency, exploitation and other vulnerabilities	165
ANTJE MISSBACH AND FRIEDA SINANU
PART IV
Moving forward	183
11 Shifting public anti-trafficking discourses through arts and media	185
JULIE HAM AND FLEUR DEWAR
12 The role of media-based interventions in combating human trafficking in Southeast Asia	200
SCOTT DOWNMAN
13 Balancing relations, broadening discourses? Shifting the terrain of local non-government organisation involvement in anti-trafficking knowledge production in Vietnam	216
SALLIE YEA WITH DINH THI NGOC QUY, NGUYEN THI HONG AND TRAN THI KIM TUYEN
Index	230