

CONTENTS

Notes on contributors	vii
Preface	x
1 Formatting religion: the approach	1
MARIUS TIMMANN MJAALAND
2 Sacralization and desacralization: political domination and religious interpretation	17
HANS JOAS
3 A new formatting: Myanmar's 2015 'race and religion laws'	37
ISELIN FRYDENLUND
4 Monitoring religious freedom: persecution, documentation and the role of political facts	56
MICHAEL HERTZBERG
5 "Shared religiousness" as a source of values?	77
VEBJØRN L. HORSEJORD
6 A time of change in the Estonian Islamic community: the question of power among the surrendered ones	90
EGE LEPA
7 Media formatting religion and conflict	107
KNUT LUNDBY

8	Do the Toledo Guiding Principles politicise religious education?	127
	ROBERT JACKSON
9	Salient or silenced: how religion and terrorism are formatted in school	142
	TRINE ANKER AND MARIE VON DER LIPPE
10	Religion, human rights and juridification	156
	PAMELA SLOTTE
11	Towards re-sacralization of Nordic law?	175
	LISBET CHRISTOFFERSEN	