

Contents

Director's Remarks VII

Michael W. Kwakkelstein

Acknowledgements VIII

List of Figures X

Notes on Contributors XV

Introduction: The Material World and Its Limits 1

Guy Hedreen

1 Plato's Attitude toward Painting and Mathematics 19

Ernesto Paparazzo

2 The Vitruvian Body in De architectura's Third Preface: Architecture and Rhetoric between Nature and Art 50

Marden Fitzpatrick Nichols

3 Cera d'api: la storia naturale di un medium archetipico 67

Verity Platt

4 'We Penetrate the Earth's Innards and Search for Riches': Pliny's Hierarchy of Materials and Its Influence in the Renaissance 90

Sarah Blake McHam

5 Moving Wood, Man Immobile: Hero's Automata at the Urbino Court 108

Courtney Roby

6 Terremoti artificiali. La sismologia aristotelica nella guerra sotterranea del Rinascimento 133

Morgan Ng

7 The Heptaphonon and the Architecture of Echoes 163

Carolyn Yerkes

8 A Changing Earth: Strabo and Leonardo's Scientific Humanism 180

Domenico Laurenza

- 9 Into the Wild: Living Landscape and Wonderment in Renaissance Art 191
Dennis Geronimus

- 10 Botticelli's Venus and Mars, Lucretius and Empedocles 226
Gordon Campbell

- 11 Fantasia and Speciation: Traces of Empedocles in Ancient Poetry and Renaissance Art 250
Guy Hedreen

Coda: Temporality and the Reception of Ancient Culture: An Example from Dürer 273
Guy Hedreen

Index of Primary Literary Sources 297

Index of Works of Art 304

General Index 306