

Table of Contents

Preface	vii
Introduction to the Second Edition	xi
The Power Dynamic of Male and Female	xiv
Categories Again	xvi
The Reasonable Person and the Language of Law	xviii
"It's the economy, Stupid!"	xxiii
The Male/Female Verbal Environment and the "Politically Correct"	xxiv
The Nature of a Person—The Whole Person	xxv
The Sun Darkens the Moon	xxvii
The Still Silent Woman and The Resulting Silence of Others	xxix
The Asymmetry of Nudity	xxix
The Queen Bee Is Alive and Well or The Power of the Powerless	xxx
The Dinosaur Syndrome and Still to Come	xxxi
Acknowledgments: Give Credit Where Credit Is Due	xxxiii
Conclusion	xxxiii
I In the Beginning: Male and Female Differentiation	1
II Social Structures: Masculinity and Femininity	14
III Social Dialect Differences: Dialogues and Styles of Speech	23
IV Gingerbread Men and Gingerbread Girls: Labels and Descriptors	31
V Titles, Names, and Greetings	38

VI	Discrimination Against Males, Taboos, and the Double Standard	47
VII	Early Education and Language Ability	52
VIII	Subjects, Not Objects: Linguistic Structures	61
IX	Speaking in Reference to Male and Female	79
X	Status and Standard/ Nonstandard Language	96
XI	Nonverbal, Extra-Linguistic Messages	101
XII	Male and Female Authors	112
XIII	The Silent Woman: Tyranny in Language	122
XIV	Language Change and Bilingualism	131
XV	An Androgynous Language—The Future Tense: Language Planning	136
	Chapter Notes	145
	Appendix A: Guidelines	171
	Appendix B: MLA Female Studies [1970 course outline]	176
	Bibliography	181
	Name Index	308
	General Index	316
	About the Author	324