

Contents

Foreword	ix
----------------	----

A General Introduction	1
------------------------------	---

PART A: Ethno- and Socio-Linguistic Issues: An Asian Perspective

Chapter One. The Oration of the Minangkabau Pasambahan : An Ethno-Linguistic Study Media Sandra Kasih	11
Chapter Two. Responding to the Terrorism Threat: Coverage of the US-Led Anti-Terror Campaign in Pro-Government and Islamic- Based Opposition Newspapers in Malaysia Ezhar Tamam	23
Chapter Three. Power and Politeness in Negotiation Discourse Shamala Paramasivam	37
Chapter Four. The Communicative Sensitivity of Bilingual Societies: Are Malaysia's Globalizing Tendencies Compatible with Her Multicultural Environment? Ain Nadzimah Abdullah	69
Chapter Five. 'Foreign' Languages in the New Wor[l]d Order: Whither Linguistic Symbiosis? Faiz S. Abdullah	77

PART B: The Teaching of English to Speakers of Other Languages: Malaysian's Second Language Dimension

Chapter Six. The Acquisition of Gender, Number and Case in English Personal Pronouns Wong Bee Eng and Liu Jan Choo	101
---	-----

Chapter Seven. Reading Attitude and University Students—A Pilot Study Rosli Talif and Mohamed Abu Bakar	121
Chapter Eight. A Survey Study on Writing Needs and Writing Support at Universiti Putra Malaysia Tan Bee Hoon	131
Chapter Nine. The Writing of Research Articles: How Do Native and Non- Native Writers Differ in the Use of Hedges? Helen Tan and Chan Swee Heng	163
Chapter Ten. Gender in Literary Texts: How To Capture Its Symbolism Rosli Talif and Jariah Mohd. Jan	179
Bibliography.....	191
List of Contributors.....	199
Index.....	205